Military Buildup Plans Set

Final Decision On New Steps Made By JFK

Arms Budget Hike, Callup Of Reserve, Guard Units Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy made his final decision Wednesday on steps he will recommend to stiffen the nation's defenses to meet the threat to West Berlin.

No decisions were announced, but the steps which Kennedy will recommend to Congress next week presumably include an additional increase in the military budget for the fiscal year which started this month.

A call-up of some National Guard and reserve units also may have been decided upon.

Kennedy made what he had termed his "final judgment" about any new military steps needed in consultation with his top national policy advisers, the National Security Council.

"Decisions Made"

The council met with Kennedy at the White House for an hour and 20 minutes. Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said afterward, in response to a reporter's question, that "there were decisions made."

Salinger told reporters Kennedy and his advisers had concluded their discussions of the defense program, and "now will enter into the phase of consultation with our allies," as the President had said at his news conference Wednesday morning.

Replying to another question, Salinger said the consultations would be carried on through normal channels.

The National Security Council will hold a regular meeting Thursday at 10 a.m., Salinger said.

Kennedy To Spell Out "Hazards"

Kennedy had told his news conference earlier in the day that he was about to make a final decision on steps he feels are needed to meet Soviet Premier Khrushchev's threat against Berlin.

He said he would follow up this decision by:

1. A speech to the nation next Tuesday night in which he will spell out "what our hazards are" in facing the Communist drive and his plans for meeting them.

2. A speech to Congress Wednesday presenting his new save-Berlin defense program, which could add several billion dollars beyond the $43-billion defense budget already requested by Kennedy.

3. A trip by Secretary of State Dean Rusk to Paris Aug. 5-8, where he would consult with the British, French and West German foreign ministers on increases in preparedness in Berlin.

Eichmann Tells Of Truck Plan

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann testified Wednesday he conceived the idea of trading a million Jews for 10,000 trucks but admitted he sent victims to the gas chambers while the deal was being negotiated.

Eichmann asserted he used the truck plan to undercut rivals in his own organization in a struggle for power.

On the next to last day of his cross-examination by Prosecutor Gideon Hausner, the former Gestapo officer described his frustration and anger when another SS officer in Hungary tried to muscle in on his specialty — deportation of Jews.

"I was angry when I received orders from (SS Col. Kurt) Becher regarding Jewish deportations. I considered this my perogative," Eichmann said.

Grissom Space Flight Is Reset For Tomorrow

DECISIONS MADE—President Kennedy tells his news conference yesterday that decisions on a military buildup have been made and that he will tell the nation its role in the preparedness drive next Tuesday. The President urged Russia to reconsider a German course he said threatens to disturb world peace.

Shot Is Called Off As Cloud Blanket Settles Over Area

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom's projected space flight atop a blazing rocket Wednesday was set back until 6 a.m. (EST) Friday by heavy, frustrating clouds.

Grissom, 35, was within 10 minutes and 30 seconds of being hurled through space like a bullet when the man-in-space shot was called off.

"Of course I was disappointed that the flight did not go. But I know the operations director had good reason for cancelling," Grissom said through a space agency spokesman.

"I have confidence in his judgment and I support him fully.'

At the time the scrub was decided upon at 9 a.m., a highly charged though cool* Grissom had spent a gruelling three hours and 22 minutes buttoned up in his two-ton space craft called Liberty Bell 7. It was 35 minutes more before he climbed out.

Second Postponement

With the postponement — the second for Grissom's flight—the systematically feverish activities of literally thousands of men at the Cape, at sea and at tracking stations came to a grinding halt.

The cancellation of the flight was, in a nutshell, the end result of a gamble that the weather—marginal at best—would improve.

At 5:38 a.m., when Grissom crawled through the hatch of his space ship, the skies appeared clear, but within two hours a cloud blanket had settled over the area.

This cloud would have prevented photographic tracking of the man-ferrying rocket from blast-off to burnout which the scientists demand.

Shepard On Hand

As the 155-pound Air Force captain was lowered to earth from atop the ready-to-fire, 83-foot Redstone missile, he mustered a smile of sorts for Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr.

Shepard, who had been in constant radio contact with Grissom, was the first American to make a suborbital flight into space.

For all practical purposes, Grissom's flight was to have duplicated the one Shepard took on May 5 when he traveled 116 miles upwards and 302 miles southeast over the Atlantic Ocean.

Shepard's first flight also was postponed, but the "scrub" order was given before he entered the capsule.

All 67 Aboard Argentine Plane Perish In Crash

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A DC6 airliner of the government-owned Aerolineas Argentinas carrying 67 persons crashed and burned Wednesday on a flight from Buenos Aires toward the Patagonian oilfields. Police said there were no survivors.

The four-engine plane, blue and white, met disaster in an attempted emergency landing on rain-sodden soil at Cachari, a grain and livestock center 125 miles south of Buenos Aires. An airline spokesman said it burst into flames as it touched the ground.

Authorities said a witness told them the plane was struck by lightning. A heavy rain was falling at the time of the accident.

Officials feared some Americans may have been among the dead. U.S. oil experts frequently shuttle by air between the capital and the Patagonian town of Comodoro Rivadavia, the chief center of Argentina's petroleum industry. Comodoro Rivadavia is on the San Jorge Gulf of the Atlantic 850 miles south of this city.

The Esso Oil Co., the main U.S. oil concern operating in that area, said none of its employes was aboard the plane. The passenger list showed two names that might be English or American—Wilburn Taylor and Hilda M. Anderson.

There were 60 passengers and 7 crew members.

The crash was Argentina's second in less than three weeks. Twenty-three persons were killed June 30 in a crash near Buenos Aires.

American companies are helping Argentina's national oil company explore and develop the Comodoro Rivadavia field, where oil was first discovered in 1907.

No One Injured In Ohio Pen Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fire broke out in the planing mill of the Ohio State Penitentiary compound early Wednesday night, sending plumes of black smoke over the historic stone prison.

About an hour later the blaze was under control. No one was reported injured. The mill is housed in a two-story building not connected with the cell blocks, in the northwest corner of the compound.

The penitentiary was the scene of the nation's worst prison disaster on Easter Monday, April 21, 1930, in a fire which swept through the north wing of the cell blocks. In that blaze 320 convicts lost their lives and 133 others received injuries.

Thousands Of E. German Protestants Defy Reds

BERLIN (AP) — Thousands of Protestants from Communist East Germany flocked to Berlin Wednesday quietly defying a Communist ban on meeting other thousands from West Germany in a major demonstration of Christian faith.

Moving back and forth through the Brandenburg Gate — symbol of Germany's prewar power and postwar division — they traveled on foot, in private cars and buses without hindrance from police. West Germans got passes from the Reds entitling them to stay in East Berlin for church services until 9 p.m.

The occasion was the Kirchentag, a five-day church rally held in Germany every two years.

The Communists forbade anything but church services in East Berlin, which they control. They threatened to treat as lawbreakers any of their citizens who go to West Berlin for other meetings.

Hundreds of East Germans were reported yanked off trains on the way to Berlin from the areas under Communist rule and sent home.

However, some organizers of the rally said a third of the 25,000 who had arrived by this evening had defied the ban to come from East Berlin or East Germany.

City Bombed, Shelled, Tunis Sources Say

French Naval Base Forces, Besiegers Wage Artillery Duel

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—Fighting broke out Wednesday between the French garrison of the big Bizerte naval base and Tunisian troops besieging it. Tunisian government sources said fighting continued into the night with casualties on both sides.

French artillery was shelling the city of Bizerte outside the base boundaries, and French planes strafed Tunisian positions, Tunisian sources reported. They said the city was shaken by continuous cannon and antiaircraft fire.

French Charge Tunisia Opened Fire On Big Base

PARIS (AP) — French government officials Wednesday night bitterly accused Tunisia of launching an attack on the strategic Bizerte base and said the first wounded fell on the French side.

Government sources said 30 members of the French garrison of Bizerte were wounded when Tunisian mortars and artillery opened fire on the base.

Vice Adm. Maurice Amman, commander of the base, gave order to return fire when the base was ablaze with explosions of Tunisian shells, these sources reported.

The French said six Tunisians were wounded in the early stages of the battle.

French planes were dropping incendiary bombs on Bizerte, Tunisian government spokesmen said.

Cannon and mortar fire from Tunisian ground defenses smashed into French positions, hitting a command post.

French Drop Paratroops

Tunisian antiaircraft batteries fired on French planes dropping paratroop reinforcements to the base. The French returned the fire.

The government-controlled Tunis Radio claimed the first victory in the struggle, the capture of a French munitions depot at the village of La Pecherie. This is about halfway between the city of Bizerte and the main French base.

The Tunisian government followed up a ban on French flights over Tunisia by ordering its forces in Bizerte to stop any French warships coming to the relief of the garrison. This was an attempt to make the blockade 100 per cent effective.

The naval base is three miles inland from the Mediterranean, and the hostile city of Bizerte is between the French and the sea. The only way out for French ships berthed at the base is a canal running through the city.

Tunisians Shout "Win Or Die"

Thousands of Tunisian volunteers massed to back their government's move to force France out of Bizerte, shouting "win or die."

Their massive chant was drowned by machine-gun fire from low-flying French planes.

In a note to the Tunisian government, France reiterated it does not intend to negotiate any timetable for withdrawal from Bizerte in an atmosphere of threats and tension. The note was delivered Tuesday and made public Wednesday.

The French government also warned it does not intend to tolerate the march of Tunisian volunteers into the French-held Sahara, which began at dawn Wednesday. Tunisia claims a wedge of the Sahara near French oilfields. The volunteers were marching on a point known as Marker 233 manned by a French army unit.

El Salvador Crushes Red-Led Coup Attemp

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The government said Wednesday it had broken up a Communist-inspired attempt to overthrow it.

A communique said the coup was discovered Tuesday night and was crushed early Wednesday. It gave neither names nor the number of persons held. Unofficial sources said several men were under arrest.

Squeeze Play To Save School Bill Launched

WASHINGTON (AP) — A squeeze play designed to save President Kennedy's $2.5-billion general school aid bill has been launched by the administration and its backers in the House.

Caught in the squeeze will be 319 congressmen whose public schools stand to lose about $300 million a year they have been getting to help educate children of federal employes and defense workers.

A provision continuing such aid for what is called impacted areas —those with heavy federal employment—has been included in the public school bill. However, that measure, along with two other education bills, was shelved Tuesday by the House Rules Committee.

Applying the pressure will be Kennedy on one side, and on the other the administrators of the 3,500 school districts affected. Their pressure is not part of any plan. It stems from their urgent need of the money — and it already is being felt.

Kennedy gave his first gentle prod at his news conference Wednesday when he described the public school bill as "probably the most important piece of domestic legislation I have requested." The President said he was opposed to separating the impacted areas provision from the rest of it.

A less gentle shove was delivered shortly afterward by Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N, author of the school bill, who works closely with the White House.

"It is my considered judgement that the President would veto any separate impacted areas legislation unless it was cut well below the current level," Thompson told a reporter.

In the Senate, meanwhile, the Labor and Public Welfare Committee approved, 11-4, a $500-million National Defense Education Act, broadened along lines asked by Kennedy plus new features added by the committee. A similar bill was one o the three education measures shelved by the House Rules Committee after approval by that body's Education Committee.

Conferees OK JFK's Space Fund Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's sharp acceleration of the U.S. race for the moon won the resounding approval Wednesday of a Senate-House conference committee. It voted to let him spend every space penny he had asked for this year.

The committee, assigned to work out differences on costs of space projects during the fiscal year that started July 1, agreed on the full $1.78 billion Kennedy asked.

The measure went back to the House, with quick passage expected there and later in the Senate.

Farmer To Seal Cave, Death Trap For Two Men

ORLEANS, Ind. (UPI) — Wallace Shaul vowed Wednesday night to permanently seal the limestone cave under his 1,009-acre "show place" farm in which two Indiana University students drowned.

Bodies of Ralph Moreland Jr. and Thomas Arnold, both 25-year-old graduate students at Indiana, were found Wednesday morning lying side-by-side in a leg of a T-shaped passage more than 3,000 feet underground.

Orange County Coroner Dr. Charles X. McCalla III said the two drowned. Rescuers said Moreland and Arnold apparently were trapped by the first of two cloudburst which sent a seven-foot flood crest flowing into the cave last Sunday night.

2 Couples Die In Plane Plunge

CHESAPEAKE, Ohio (AP)—A twin-engine plane, groping through a rainstorm for a landing, crashed one mile east of the Chesapeake airport Wednesday, killing all four persons aboard.

The victims were identified as Ben Shacket, 42, pilot and owner of the plane, of Detroit, and his wife, Norma, 41; and Jacob Milton Woolf, 43, and his wife, Evelyn Estelle, 35, also of Detroit.

The FAA said the plane, a Cessna 310, apparently had originated its flight in Detroit. Its destination was not known.

Airport sources said the plane apparently came in too fast. As it tried to regain altitude for another landing attempt, it stalled, striking the roof of a house. Witnesses said the craft cartwheeled into a hillside near U. S. 52.

Showdown Vote On Foreign Aid Planned Today

WASHINGTON AP — Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., notified all members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday he will call for major votes Thursday on President Kennedy's $4.8-billion foreign aid program.

Fulbright notified members to be on hand at 10:30 a.m. and be prepared to work Thursday night if necessary, after the committee spent morning and afternoon sessions Wednesday disposing of noncontroversial provisions.

A showdown vote on Kennedy's request for a five-year economic development loan fund—originally planned for Wednesday—was postponed because of the lack of a full attendance of the 17 members.

The major issue swirls around Kennedy's plea for authority to borrow money directly from the Treasury to finance the five-year program for making longterm, low or no interest rate loans, repayable in dollars, to help underdeveloped nations in Asia, Africa and Latin America build up their economies.

Some members of Congress object to this method of financing, insisting that money for the program should be provided by Congress on a year-to-year basis. They would prefer a three-year authorization, subject to the appropriation process.

Kennedy's supporters argue that appropriations committees are not required to provide the full amount of authorizations and this makes it difficult for administrators of the program to make advance commitments on projects which take several years to complete.

Eight Dixie States Agree To Bolster Rights Stands

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Eight Southern states agreed Wednesday to launch a campaign to strengthen their states rights stands in the wake of new assaults on their segregated social patterns.

The states adopted a four-point program aimed at the twin goals of economic improvements and the "preservation of constitutional government.'

Representatives of the states met in a closed session at a hotel. In a brief statement after the session, they told newsmen about the program, but did not go into how they would try to put it into effect. Another meeting was set for Montgomery, Ala., within 60 days.

Attending were Govs. Ross Barnett of Mississippi, John Patterson of Alabama, Ernest Hollings of South Carolina and Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas. The governors of Georgia, Florida, Kentucky and Louisiana sent representatives.

As the meeting opened, two Negroes appeared in front of the hotel to protest the session. The two, arrested after ignoring police orders to move, were Richard Haley, 45, of Chicago, field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality, and Helen Jean O'Neal, 20, of Clarksdale, Miss., who withdrew from Jackson State (Negro) College in Jackson, just before the picketing.

The four-point program adopted by the governors called for an expansion of Southern economy, Latin-American trade and research, and for "improvement of the South's position in its fight for the right of self-determination and preservation of constitutional government."

Kennedy Will Unfold Details Next Tuesday

President Urges Russia Negotiate On Berlin Question

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Wednesday soberly urged the Soviet Union to "reconsider its course" and negotiate on Berlin. At the same time he announced the United States this very day is making its decisions on a military buildup and possible declaration of a national emergency.

The fateful decisions, which could include calling up armed forces reserves, will be unfolded to the nation in a television speech next Tuesday night after consultation this week with the Western allies.

The President told a record news conference throng of 427 that the whole program, plus his request for funds to reinforce free world bastions, will go to Congress next Wednesday.

The Tuesday night speech will be carried live by major radio and television networks starting at 9 (EST). It will run about a half hour and will originate from the White House.

Whether Kennedy's report to Congress the next day will take the form of a message or an appropriation request has not been determined.

Kennedy indicated he hopes to meet the new costs — reportedly including bigger outlays for conventional weapons, long-range bombers, and enlarged land forces—without a tax increase.

Economic Growth Cited

The economy's growth—a $14-billion production gain in the April-June quarter to a record $515 billion annual rate — will boost revenues substantially if it continues, he said.

As the conference opened, the President read to the packed-in newsmen a new, 1,000-word personal statement on Berlin and Germany.

In this he emphasized Western willingness to bargain out a peace treaty for all of divided Germany —a theme less directly stated in Monday's separate notes to the Kremlin from the United States, France and Britain. But he again firmly rejected the avowed aim of Soviet Premier Khrushchev to sign a separate peace pact overriding the Western claims on Berlin.

Then Kennedy let the news conference run five minutes past its allotted half-hour to answer a barrage of questions on prime home front issues. The President:

1. Urged Congress to bypass the House Rules Committee which tabled his three aid-to-education bills Tuesday, and bring this "most important" legislation to a vote.

Upholds "Freedom Rides"

2. Declared firmly his view that the "Freedom Riders," touring the South by bus to test the racial segregation of travel facilities, should move freely in interstate commerce in accord with the legal right of every traveler.

3. Denied that he intends to displace Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles asserting that the outspokenly liberal Bowles "has my complete confidence," he added: "He will continue as undersecretary of state. I have no plan to ask him to assume new responsibilities."

4. Announced that he has abandoned plans to attend next month's meeting in Uruguay of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council, aimed at developing a hemisphere-wide development program. Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon will head the U.S. delegation, he said.

House Group Decides Against Birch Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee decided Wednesday not to order investigations of the John Birch Society and the nation's gold reserves at Ft. Knox.

It also turned thumbs down on proposals to create a joint committee on ethics and to require Congress to take a summer recess except in time of war.

In a note to the Tunisian government, France reiterated it does not intend to negotiate any timetable for withdrawal from Bizerte in an atmosphere of threats and tension. The note was delivered Tuesday and made public Wednesday.

The French government also warned it does not intend to tolerate the march of Tunisian volunteers into the French-held Sahara, which began at dawn Wednesday. Tunisia claims a wedge of the Sahara near French oilfields. The volunteers were marching on a point known as Marker 233 manned by a French army unit.

No One Injured In Ohio Pen Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fire broke out in the planing mill of the Ohio State Penitentiary compound early Wednesday night, sending plumes of black smoke over the historic stone prison.

About an hour later the blaze was under control. No one was reported injured. The mill is housed in a two-story building not connected with the cell blocks, in the northwest corner of the compound.

The penitentiary was the scene of the nation's worst prison disaster on Easter Monday, April 21, 1930, in a fire which swept through the north wing of the cell blocks. In that blaze 320 convicts lost their lives and 133 others received injuries.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The government said Wednesday it had broken up a Communist-inspired attempt to overthrow it.

A communique said the coup was discovered Tuesday night and was crushed early Wednesday. It gave neither names nor the number of persons held. Unofficial sources said several men were under arrest.

Squeeze Play To Save School Bill Launched

WASHINGTON (AP) — A squeeze play designed to save President Kennedy's $2.5-billion general school aid bill has been launched by the administration and its backers in the House.

Caught in the squeeze will be 319 congressmen whose public schools stand to lose about $300 million a year they have been getting to help educate children of federal employes and defense workers.

A provision continuing such aid for what is called impacted areas —those with heavy federal employment—has been included in the public school bill. However, that measure, along with two other education bills, was shelved Tuesday by the House Rules Committee.

Applying the pressure will be Kennedy on one side, and on the other the administrators of the 3,500 school districts affected. Their pressure is not part of any plan. It stems from their urgent need of the money — and it already is being felt.

Kennedy gave his first gentle prod at his news conference Wednesday when he described the public school bill as "probably the most important piece of domestic legislation I have requested." The President said he was opposed to separating the impacted areas provision from the rest of it.

A less gentle shove was delivered shortly afterward by Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N, author of the school bill, who works closely with the White House.

"It is my considered judgement that the President would veto any separate impacted areas legislation unless it was cut well below the current level," Thompson told a reporter.

In the Senate, meanwhile, the Labor and Public Welfare Committee approved, 11-4, a $500-million National Defense Education Act, broadened along lines asked by Kennedy plus new features added by the committee. A similar bill was one o the three education measures shelved by the House Rules Committee after approval by that body's Education Committee.

Conferees OK JFK's Space Fund Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's sharp acceleration of the U.S. race for the moon won the resounding approval Wednesday of a Senate-House conference committee. It voted to let him spend every space penny he had asked for this year.

The committee, assigned to work out differences on costs of space projects during the fiscal year that started July 1, agreed on the full $1.78 billion Kennedy asked.

The measure went back to the House, with quick passage expected there and later in the Senate.

Farmer To Seal Cave, Death Trap For Two Men

ORLEANS, Ind. (UPI) — Wallace Shaul vowed Wednesday night to permanently seal the limestone cave under his 1,009-acre "show place" farm in which two Indiana University students drowned.

Bodies of Ralph Moreland Jr. and Thomas Arnold, both 25-year-old graduate students at Indiana, were found Wednesday morning lying side-by-side in a leg of a T-shaped passage more than 3,000 feet underground.

Orange County Coroner Dr. Charles X. McCalla III said the two drowned. Rescuers said Moreland and Arnold apparently were trapped by the first of two cloudburst which sent a seven-foot flood crest flowing into the cave last Sunday night.

2 Couples Die In Plane Plunge

CHESAPEAKE, Ohio (AP)—A twin-engine plane, groping through a rainstorm for a landing, crashed one mile east of the Chesapeake airport Wednesday, killing all four persons aboard.

The victims were identified as Ben Shacket, 42, pilot and owner of the plane, of Detroit, and his wife, Norma, 41; and Jacob Milton Woolf, 43, and his wife, Evelyn Estelle, 35, also of Detroit.

The FAA said the plane, a Cessna 310, apparently had originated its flight in Detroit. Its destination was not known.

Airport sources said the plane apparently came in too fast. As it tried to regain altitude for another landing attempt, it stalled, striking the roof of a house. Witnesses said the craft cartwheeled into a hillside near U. S. 52.

Showdown Vote On Foreign Aid Planned Today

WASHINGTON AP — Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., notified all members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday he will call for major votes Thursday on President Kennedy's $4.8-billion foreign aid program.

Fulbright notified members to be on hand at 10:30 a.m. and be prepared to work Thursday night if necessary, after the committee spent morning and afternoon sessions Wednesday disposing of noncontroversial provisions.

A showdown vote on Kennedy's request for a five-year economic development loan fund—originally planned for Wednesday—was postponed because of the lack of a full attendance of the 17 members.

The major issue swirls around Kennedy's plea for authority to borrow money directly from the Treasury to finance the five-year program for making longterm, low or no interest rate loans, repayable in dollars, to help underdeveloped nations in Asia, Africa and Latin America build up their economies.

Some members of Congress object to this method of financing, insisting that money for the program should be provided by Congress on a year-to-year basis. They would prefer a three-year authorization, subject to the appropriation process.

Kennedy's supporters argue that appropriations committees are not required to provide the full amount of authorizations and this makes it difficult for administrators of the program to make advance commitments on projects which take several years to complete.

Eight Dixie States Agree To Bolster Rights Stands

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Eight Southern states agreed Wednesday to launch a campaign to strengthen their states rights stands in the wake of new assaults on their segregated social patterns.

The states adopted a four-point program aimed at the twin goals of economic improvements and the "preservation of constitutional government."

Representatives of the states met in a closed session at a hotel. In a brief statement after the session, they told newsmen about the program, but did not go into how they would try to put it into effect. Another meeting was set for Montgomery, Ala., within 60 days.

Attending were Govs. Ross Barnett of Mississippi, John Patterson of Alabama, Ernest Hollings of South Carolina and Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas. The governors of Georgia, Florida, Kentucky and Louisiana sent representatives.

As the meeting opened, two Negroes appeared in front of the hotel to protest the session. The two, arrested after ignoring police orders to move, were Richard Haley, 45, of Chicago, field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality, and Helen Jean O'Neal, 20, of Clarksdale, Miss., who withdrew from Jackson State (Negro) College in Jackson, just before the picketing.

The four-point program adopted by the governors called for an expansion of Southern economy, Latin-American trade and research, and for "improvement of the South's position in its fight for the right of self-determination and preservation of constitutional government."

Kennedy Will Unfold Details Next Tuesday

President Urges Russia Negotiate On Berlin Question

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Wednesday soberly urged the Soviet Union to "reconsider its course" and negotiate on Berlin. At the same time he announced the United States this very day is making its decisions on a military buildup and possible declaration of a national emergency.

The fateful decisions, which could include calling up armed forces reserves, will be unfolded to the nation in a television speech next Tuesday night after consultation this week with the Western allies.

The President told a record news conference throng of 427 that the whole program, plus his request for funds to reinforce free world bastions, will go to Congress next Wednesday.

The Tuesday night speech will be carried live by major radio and television networks starting at 9 (EST). It will run about a half hour and will originate from the White House.

Whether Kennedy's report to Congress the next day will take the form of a message or an appropriation request has not been determined.

Kennedy indicated he hopes to meet the new costs — reportedly including bigger outlays for conventional weapons, long-range bombers, and enlarged land forces—without a tax increase.

Economic Growth Cited

The economy's growth—a $14-billion production gain in the April-June quarter to a record $515 billion annual rate — will boost revenues substantially if it continues, he said.

As the conference opened, the President read to the packed-in newsmen a new, 1,000-word personal statement on Berlin and Germany.

In this he emphasized Western willingness to bargain out a peace treaty for all of divided Germany —a theme less directly stated in Monday's separate notes to the Kremlin from the United States, France and Britain. But he again firmly rejected the avowed aim of Soviet Premier Khrushchev to sign a separate peace pact overriding the Western claims on Berlin.

Then Kennedy let the news conference run five minutes past its allotted half-hour to answer a barrage of questions on prime home front issues. The President:

1. Urged Congress to bypass the House Rules Committee which tabled his three aid-to-education bills Tuesday, and bring this "most important" legislation to a vote.

Upholds "Freedom Rides"

2. Declared firmly his view that the "Freedom Riders," touring the South by bus to test the racial segregation of travel facilities, should move freely in interstate commerce in accord with the legal right of every traveler.

3. Denied that he intends to displace Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles asserting that the outspokenly liberal Bowles "has my complete confidence," he added: "He will continue as undersecretary of state. I have no plan to ask him to assume new responsibilities."

4. Announced that he has abandoned plans to attend next month's meeting in Uruguay of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council, aimed at developing a hemisphere-wide development program. Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon will head the U.S. delegation, he said.

House Group Decides Against Birch Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee decided Wednesday not to order investigations of the John Birch Society and the nation's gold reserves at Ft. Knox.

It also turned thumbs down on proposals to create a joint committee on ethics and to require Congress to take a summer recess except in time of war.

JFK Asks Priority Be Given Physical Fitness In Schools

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy, the nation's first touch football-playing president, gave a pep talk Wednesday for physical fitness among American school children.

"This is a matter of importance," Kennedy said in an unusual encore to his regular news conference. "I want to urge that it be given the utmost priority."

Kennedy laid down this three-point program:

1. Each school should find those who are physically unfit and give them special help.

2. Every elementary and high school should provide 15 minutes a day of vigorous exercise for all students, boys and girls.

3. Valid tests should be given to see how well each student measures up—and how much he progresses.

As far as could be recalled, there never was a presidential performance quite like this one.

Kennedy finished his regular news conference in his regular way. Those who had to file bulletins on Berlin and other troubled spots scurried off, and the President left the room too.

A few minutes later he came back to volunteer his comments on physical fitness.

One reason it was done this way: The presidential late show was filmed as a separate segment, so that school administrators can see for themselves how earnest Kennedy was about it all.

Kennedy began by pointing out that studies have shown that youngsters in other countries are far ahead of U.S. youngsters in performing simple tests of physical strength.

Yet, he said, it's one of democracy's oldest tenets that intellectual and physical fitness go together.

Kennedy's special adviser on fitness is Charles B. "Bud" Wilkinson, athletic director and coach of the University of Oklahoma's famed football teams.

After the conference Wilkinson told a reporter that 72 per cent of the nation's schools have inadequate physical education programs. He said his office would soon have available plans for simple exercises that can be used without installing expensive equipment.

State Housing Rent Boost Considered

BALTIMORE (AP)—A group of Maryland legislators Wednesday eyed possible increase in the rent charged employes who live on the grounds of state institutions.

Members of the Legislative Council's Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters outlined a report critical of the failure to raise these rents since 1949.

More study will be made before the report is drafted, but committee members expressed the opinion employe housing rates should be revised periodically to reflect changes in private rentals.

State housing is provided employes at institutions such as prisons, hospitals, training schools and at some teacher colleges. Sometimes the employes are required to live on the grounds. In other cases, the decision is voluntary.

Every new automobile requires about six tons of coal in its manufacture.

Ex-Con Returns To Texas For Check Of Story He Caused School Explosion

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) —An ex-convict returned voluntarily to Texas Wednesday for an on-the-spot investigation of his story that he caused the New London, Tex., school explosion that killed 293 children and adults March 18, March 18, 1937.

The ex-convict, William Estel Benson, 41, was a student at New London. Rusk County, Tex., Dist. Atty. William Ferguson, Texas ranger Jim Ray and Rusk County Sheriff Pete Gibson left Oklahoma City with Benson by automobile for Rusk County. New London is in Rusk County.

"I have reached no conclusion whatever as to the credence of the story," Ferguson said. "There is a lot of study to be made. He has admitted several burglaries in Texas, one of them in my own county and he will be questioned about all of them."

Ferguson said he will give Benson another lie detector test in Henderson, Tex. Henderson is about seven miles from New London. A lie detector test Tuesday in Oklahoma City was inconclusive.

Some officials believe Benson's story and some do not. He "confessed" to being responsible for the New London explosion Monday night while being questioned about the $38 robbery of an Oklahoma restaurant.

He said he loosened the joints of gas pipes under the school to get even with a principal who scolded him for smoking. Two weeks after he loosened the pipes, he said, an accumulation of gas exploded and tore the school apart.

The explosion, fifth worse in U.S. history, has been regarded for 24 years as accidental.

Benson lost a 14-year-old sister and a cousin in the explosion. A niece said grieving for the sister deranged him and he has blamed himself previously for causing the explosion.

The first governmental employment bureaus were established in France in 1843.

Md. Pen Escapee On FBI Top 10 List

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI Wednesday listed a domino-playing bandit who broke out of a Maryland penitentiary as one of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals.

The FBI said the fugitive, Robert William Schuette, "should be considered armed and very dangerous."

Schuette has been sought since October, 1960, when he escaped from the state prison where he was serving a 20-year sentence for armed robbery with a deadly weapon.

According to the FBI, the wanted man "perpetrated a one - man crime wave" in Baltimore from 1955 through 1957 when he committed a series of holdups.

Park "Sit-Ins" Plan Appeal

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Five Negroes who conducted a carrousel "sit-in" at Glen Echo Amusement Park in Montgomery County plan to ask the Supreme Court to review their trespassing convictions upheld by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Claude B. Kahn of Chevy Chase, counsel for the defendants, said Wednesday he is preparing a petition to take the case before the Supreme Court.

"We feel that this case presents as good a pattern of facts as any of the sit-in cases," Kahn said.

The Negroes—William L. Griffin, Marvous Saunders, Michael Proctor, Cecil T. Washington Jr. and Gwendolyn Green—were arrested at the privately-operated amusement park June 30, 1959. They refused to leave a carrousel ride after being ordered to do so by a park guard.

The park was later opened to Negroes.

The Maryland court held last June 8 that the demonstrators deliberately violated "a lawful policy of segregation" in the park.

Woman Beaten, Another Knifed In Two Holdups

WASHINGTON (AP)—One woman was beaten and another stabbed in two holdups in suburban Maryland Wednesday.

Hilda C. Deis, 43, an employe of Aristo Valet Cleaners in Hillandale, Montgomery County, was beaten about the head and body with a bottle and robbed of $10. The attack occurred shortly after she reported for work. Mrs. Deis, a resident of West Hyattsville, was taken to a hospital ,where her condition was described as critical.

Less than two hours later, Cora Lee Frazier, 59, resident manager of the Merimac Apartments in Langley Park, Prince Georges County, was stabbed in the back by a man who called at her first-floor apartment and asked for her husband, who was away at work.

The man demanded money, Mrs. Frazier said, and she gave him between $10 and $12. Then when she attempted to run from the apartment the man stabbed her, she said. She was admitted to a hospital also.

Because the holdups occurred about two miles apart, police believe the same men participated in both. They broadcast a lookout for two white men, both about 25, one blond, the other dark-haired.

Sanitary Commission Probe Is Demanded

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (AP) — The disappearance of the treasurer of the Anne Arundel County Sanitary Commission has sparked a demand for a full-scale investigation of the agency, the Anne Arundel Star said Wednesday.

The weekly newspaper, in a copyrighted story, said a member of the board of county commissioners is "preparing the necessary documents to bring about an investigation by both the Anne Arundel County grand jury and a federal grand jury."

The Star did not identify the commissioner, who it said will recommend that a special investigator be hired by the board to assist in the probe.

Orvie B. Thumel Jr., 34, treasurer of the sanitary commission, disappeared last Thursday. A Baltimore accounting firm is now conducting an audit of the agency's books.

No Evidence Of Plane Crash; Search Halted

BALTIMORE (AP)—The search for a plane reported down in the Western Maryland area of Hagerstown and Frederick was called off late Wednesday afternoon after State Police and West Virginia National Guard planes failed to find any evidence of a crash.

The intensive hunt was touched off earlier Wednesday by a report to the Frederick State Police barracks. An unidentified civilian caller said he had seen a large plane, its engines idle, in a steep dive over the area.

Checks with the Federal Aviation Agency and airports in Baltimore, Washington and Richmond as well as airlines which service the area indicated there were no commercial flights in the vicinity. Nor were any planes reported missing or overdue.

A number of witnesses reported seeing a "plane in trouble" over the area, and described it as a large four-engine aircraft with red nose and tail markings.

Andrews Air Force Base near Washington reported two Air Force planes fitting that description were over the area early Wednesday, but a spokesman said both planes had returned to their bases.

Legionnaires Open State Convention

BALTIMORE (AP)—Legionnaires and their ladies began arriving here Wednesday for the annual conventions of the state American Legion and its auxiliary.

The men are holding their 43rd annual state meeting in the Lord Baltimore Hotel. The women are meeting in their 40th convention at the Emerson Hotel. Both meetings will last through Saturday.

Fruit Harvest Nears Full Swing

COLLEGE PARK M,d. (AP)—The fruit harvest in the area west of Chesapeake Bay is expected to be in full swing this week.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday the harvest of early peaches will begin this week in Baltimore and Frederick counties.

The harvest probably won't get under way in the Hancock area, one of Maryland's most important peach-producing regions, until next week, the department said.

The harvest of Lodi and Transparent apples reached its peak last week and is expected to tail off in a few days.

Meanwhile, the Robert Fierro Co. Inc., a fruit grower and distributor in Martinsburg, W. Va., sized up the early apple harvest in the four-state Appalachian belt as "very good."

Mental Hygiene Projects Asked

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Department of Mental Hygiene Wednesday requested an $8.5 million capital improvements budget for the next fiscal year at a hearing before the State Planning Department.

The request included $3.5 million for a new 400-bed hospital for severely retarded children to relieve overcrowding at the Rosewood Training School.

Dr. Isadore Tuerk, commissioner of mental hygiene, said no specific site had been chosen for the new hospital but that land was available in the metropolitan Washington area for this project.

Another item among the 49 projects in the Mental Hygiene request was $1.5 million for a 126-bed admissions building at Springfield State Hospital in Sykesville.

An 18-carat gold ring contains 75 per cent gold.

Politicians Lose Jobs With SFIC

BALTIMORE (AP) — A group of Baltimore County politicans have lost their jobs with the controversial Security Financial Insurance Corporation.

Del. Charles F. Culver, D-Balto County, who was removed as president of the firm, said Wednesday he was fired.

David Woods, a former publicity man at Pimlico race track and public relations firm head, was named as president of Security Financial, which came to public attention during the 1961 session of the General Assembly.

Del. Roy Staten was removed as vice president while Del. A. Gordon Boone and Michael J. Birmingham were removed from the board of directors.

The firm was the only one in the state affected by a bill introduced by former Del. Joseph D. Tydings of Harford County which limited the maximum single risk of firms insuring deposits of savings and loan associations.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Fringe operators have created an "unhealthy situation" in the home improvements industry, a Baltimore County delegate said Wednesday.

Del. H. Kemp MacDaniel, chairman of a committee appointed by Gov. Tawes to draft legislation regulating the industry, said unethical practices by fringe operators are costing Maryland homeowners about $500,000 a year.

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Arthur D. Poinier has been assigned to the 2nd Army Headquarters here as information officer.

Col. Poinier, who recently returned from Istanbul, Turkey, where he was attached to the Joint U. S. Military Mission for Aid to Turkey, succeeds Col. Oliver J. Cejka, acting information office since February.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore and Annapolis Railway Co. plans to resume rail passenger service within a year, says James M. Easter, company president.

The service initially will be offered on a trial basis between downtown Baltimore and the Harundale - Glen Burnie area, Easter said.

The B & A still operates a limited freight service between Annapolis and Baltimore and a passenger bus service in Anne Arundel County. Its passenger trains stopped running in 1950.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The State Health Department has urged a Legislative Council Committee to approve a bill outlawing the sale of diluted fruit juices advertised as being fresh.

No wonder the English keep so cool!

(mix Gordon's Gin in a tall, iced drink–and you will, too!)

The English are not easily fazed, even by summer heat. This national talent was given a cheerful accompaniment in 1769, when Alexander Gordon introduced his remarkable gin. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to his original formula, because one does not tamper with gin of such distinctive dryness and flavour. Try it soon in a tangy Gin & Tonic or Tom Collins. You'll see why, summer and winter, Gordon's Gin is the biggest seller in England, America, and indeed – the world!

BALTIMORE (AP) — A group of Baltimore County politicans have lost their jobs with the controversial Security Financial Insurance Corporation.

Del. Charles F. Culver, D-Balto County, who was removed as president of the firm, said Wednesday he was fired.

David Woods, a former publicity man at Pimlico race track and public relations firm head, was named as president of Security Financial, which came to public attention during the 1961 session of the General Assembly.

Del. Roy Staten was removed as vice president while Del. A. Gordon Boone and Michael J. Birmingham were removed from the board of directors.

The firm was the only one in the state affected by a bill introduced by former Del. Joseph D. Tydings of Harford County which limited the maximum single risk of firms insuring deposits of savings and loan associations.

No wonder the English keep so cool!

(mix Gordon's Gin in a tall, iced drink—and you will, too!)

The English are not easily fazed, even by summer heat. This national talent was given a cheerful accompaniment in 1769, when Alexander Gordon introduced his remarkable gin. The Gordon's you drink today harks back to his original formula, because one does not tamper with gin of such distinctive dryness and flavour. Try it soon in a tangy Gin & Tonic or Tom Collins. You'll see why, summer and winter, Gordon's Gin is the biggest seller in England, America, and indeed – the world!

Mr., Mrs. E. O. Hardinger To Mark 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Hardinger, Hazen Road, will celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary with a quiet, informal observance at their home Sunday.

The former Miss Annie R. Willison, daughter of the late E. B. and Victoria Hendrickson Willison, became the bride of Mr. Hardinger, son of the late H. A. and Hester McElfish Hardinger, on his birthday, July 25, 1906. The wedding was solemnized in the parsonage of Methodist Church on Hazen Road by the late Rev. Walter A. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardinger are the parents of three children, two of whom are living. They are Miss Helen Hardinger, this city, and Cecil Hardinger, Hutchinson, Kansas. They have four grandchildren.

Starting as a clerk in the Flintstone Hardware store, Mr. Hardinger later became partner in the Peoples Hardware Company here, from which he retired in 1936. That year they purchased a farm and moved to Hazen Road, where they now reside.

No formal invitations have been sent but friends and relatives are welcome to call Sunday afternoon.

Mr., Mrs. E. O. Hardinger To Mark 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Hardinger, Hazen Road, will celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary with a quiet, informal observance at their home Sunday.

The former Miss Annie R. Willison, daughter of the late E. B. and Victoria Hendrickson Willison, became the bride of Mr. Hardinger, son of the late H. A. and Hester McElfish Hardinger, on his birthday, July 25, 1906. The wedding was solemnized in the parsonage of Methodist Church on Hazen Road by the late Rev. Walter A. Anderson.

Diplomacy Fascinates Princess

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — An Oriental princess with a French university education wants to be a good will ambassador from Laos.

She is Moune Souvanna Phouma, 25-year-old daughter of the head of her country's neutralist faction.

Her name means "wisdom" and politics has been her family's tradition. Her black, soft eyes, a mysterious smile and trim figure appear unquestionable assets in the job she has picked for herself.

"Diplomacy fascinates me," says Princess Moune.

When the problem of Laos is settled, she says, "I will enter the foreign office. Then I will go abroad to build good will toward Laos."

In her impeccable French, she outlines a theory of "perfect neutrality" which she says her country needs.

She speaks English easily and in 1956 spent three months working at the United Nations in New York.

Princess Moune buys her clothes in Paris, where she studied political science and Oriental languages. Several times a week, to underline her Laotian tradition, she wears a colorful long skirt—sin (pronounced seen).

Frequently, over her smartly tailored dresses she throws a white, gold embroidered phabing —a sari-like shawl.

She plays the piano and is learning the guitar.

"My big dream is to paint," she says. How about her heart?

Princess Moune laughs.

"I am waiting for the right time —and the right man."

Trying to establish a nearly solid suit on defense has an irresistible appeal to the tyro even when he can never get in to cash it later. He may have opened some suit in which the declarer has the ace and holds up. With no entry card on the side, the leader should now shift to some other suit which might aid his partner.

That this same principle can apply to declarer is the subject of our study today.

Against the three no trump contract, West led the seven of spades, which declarer permitted to run to his queen. The diamonds were started at once. But East shrewdly refused to take the king. The ten was declined also and South, with three potential diamond tricks, could not resist the temptation to drive out the ace.

East returned a spade and declarer was now locked in dummy with the ace, and West could not be prevented from obtaining the lead to cash his established spades.

After the second diamond held, declarer could see before him nine tricks if he but chose to go after the clubs. This would assure him of five club tricks, two diamonds, and two spades.

East, of course, used shrewd strategy in refusing the first two diamond tricks. Had he taken either of them declarer would have been home with his contract. For after the ace of diamonds was driven out he would return to his hand with a diamond and run that suit.

This would prove very irksome to West who would eventually have to let go some of his established spades in order to protect the king of clubs. This would make it very relaxing for South to set up a heart trick without even bothering about the club finesse.

The moral which South should draw from this little episode is: Don't continue to put money in a bank which is about to close its doors.

Trying to establish a nearly solid suit on defense has an irresistible appeal to the tyro even when he can never get in to cash it later. He may have opened some suit in which the declarer has the ace and holds up. With no entry card on the side, the leader should now shift to some other suit which might aid his partner.

That this same principle can apply to declarer is the subject of our study today.

Against the three no trump contract, West led the seven of spades, which declarer permitted to run to his queen. The diamonds were started at once. But East shrewdly refused to take the king. The ten was declined also and South, with three potential diamond tricks, could not resist the temptation to drive out the ace.

East returned a spade and declarer was now locked in dummy with the ace, and West could not be prevented from obtaining the lead to cash his established spades.

After the second diamond held, declarer could see before him nine tricks if he but chose to go after the clubs. This would assure him of five club tricks, two diamonds, and two spades.

East, of course, used shrewd strategy in refusing the first two diamond tricks. Had he taken either of them declarer would have been home with his contract. For after the ace of diamonds was driven out he would return to his hand with a diamond and run that suit.

This would prove very irksome to West who would eventually have to let go some of his established spades in order to protect the king of clubs. This would make it very relaxing for South to set up a heart trick without even bothering about the club finesse.

The moral which South should draw from this little episode is: Don't continue to put money in a bank which is about to close its doors.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some yarns about wool are factual.

Take the one about Mary and her lamb.

Her name WAS Mary. Last name — Sawyer. She was born in 1806 in Sterling, Mass. And she DID have a pet lamb, who followed her to the town's schoolhouse.

A young ministry student, John Roulstone, wrote the tale about Mary's lamb.

Testifying to the truth of this yarn is the woolens and worsteds of American organization. The group isn't a bit sheepish about stirring a greater appreciation for the lore of the lamb in hearts everywhere.

Now it's an historical fact also that the phrase "dyed in the wool" was coined in the kichen. American housewives coined it.

The females discovered that dyeing raw wool would fix woolen and worsted fabric colors more firmly. They were so thrilled that they spoke highly of the great, "dyed-in-the-wool" technique.

Pretty soon, the phrase spilled over into common usage. It denotes anything genuine — say a dyed-in-the-wool politician.

Consider the phrase — to pull the wool over your eyes. It all started with old wool wigs worn by judges and barristers of Old Bailey days.

The old wigs had a way of slipping down over the wearers' eyes — a most undignified situation for a judge. Lawyers of the time had a habit of saying "pulled the wool over their eyes" when they put one over on the judges.

The saying is a synonym for deception.

One yarn about wool is patriotic. The historians for the wool processors report that the American flag carried during the revolutionary war was generally made of all-wool — dyed-in-the-wool. The colors could not run.

"Because of this," the historians noted, "our early soldiers first shouted the great words, immortalized throughout the U. S. wars, that still apply to this country's flag and fighting spirit:

These colors will. . .not. . .run.

Sheep, by the way, discovered America in 1493. One year after Columbus discovered America, he returned, bringing settlers and sheep to the colonies that are now the Dominican Republic and Cuba.

Later, the men took the sheep to settle in what ultimately became Southwest United States.

NEW YORK (AP) — Investors apparently are stalling on new ventures while waiting to find out how much profit business made in the second quarter.

The earnings factor thus joins the ticklish international situation as a major influence on the stock market.

A flood of first half earnings reports will gush upon the financial world before the end of this month.

The general expectation is that they won't look too good against the first half of 1960 although second quarter profits are most likely to show a good upturn.

For example, two of the biggest companies, Du Pont and Westinghouse, have reported 1961 first half earnings below the comparable 1960 period.

Excuses presented to justify the stock market's less exuberant performance might be ignored, says R. E. Buchsbaum of W. B. Hutton & Co., if the earnings recovery were more forceful and if the rate of growth in so many glamor companies had not slowed down or in some cases even vanished.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. concludes that the market's divergent and indecisive action reflects the cautious attitude of new buyers of securities, primarily resulting from the increased temperature of the cold war and general uncertainty about the level of corporate earnings for the March-June period.

However, he finds investors' confidence quite strong that the market will develop late summer strength and move into new high ground.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute, an advisory service, anticipates that profits will improve progressively over the balance of the year.

Except for a seasonal letdown in steel operations and a sharp drop in automobile production slated for later this month for model changeover, general business indicators continue favorable, it says.

The anticipated improvement in earnings prompts Standard & Poor's Corp., another advisory service, to predict a pickup in stock dividends in the second half of this year.

These dividends declined 13 per cent in the first half from the record pace in the first six months of 1960. In the 1961 first half, 285 companies paid dividends in stock, compared with 327 in the 1960 period and 243 in the 1959 period.

Of these, 27 were 25 per cent or more, against 55 the year before and 37 in the first half of 1959. Most payments were 2 per cent to 5 per cent.

CHICAGO (UPI)—International Minerals & Chemical Corp., Inc., has agreed to acquire Aristo Corp., of Detroit through an exchange of stock, the two concerns announced jointly Tuesday. Aristo is a family-held corporation which manufactures binding materials for foundry cores. Details of the planned acquisition were not disclosed.

SAVANNAH (UPI) — Southern Nitrogen Co., Inc. announced Tuesday it has completed arrangements to borrow $5 million from the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York to finance expansion plans. The loan will be secured by 6 per cent first mortgage bonds, due April 1, 1976 with sinking fund payments to begin in 1971.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The Procter & Gamble Co. has announced purchase of land at Worms, Germany, for construction of its first plant under a new West German subsidiary, Procter & Gamble GMBH. The P&G spokesman here did not disclose the size of the industrial site, nor what products would be manufactured at the new plant. Construction is to begin as soon as possible.

DETROIT (UPI)—The Automobile Manufacturers Association said Tuesday auto output in the U.S. last week totaled 127,265 or an increase of more than 41,000 over the 85,962 cars built during the previous holiday week.

Truck and motor coach production last week totaled 23,284 for a combined vehicle output of 150,549 for the week.

Hyndman Bank President Dies

Charles O. Burns, 69, president, chairman of the board of directors and cashier of the Hoblitzell National Bank, Hyndman, died Tuesday in Memorial Hospital where he had undergone surgery last Thursday.

Mr. Burns, who had lived in the Hyndman area all his life, was a leader in that community.

He had been with the bank for the past 17 years and prior to that had been engaged in the grocery business there.

The Hyndman bank was destroyed in the Christmas night fire in 1949 when most of the business section fell victim to the holocaust.

Only the vault was left standing, but on the next day the bank was in business when a temporary wooden structure was constructed around it.

Before the year was out, a modern brick bank built and, despite the loss received in the fire, Burns and the other directors voted the regular dividend.

Much of the reconstruction of the community was financed by the bank.

Mr. Burns was a member, past master and chairman of the building committee of Hyndman Lodge 589, AF&AM, and had served the lodge as secretary for 17 years.

A member of the Shrine, he belonged to Jaffa Temple, Altoona, and was an honorary member of Ali Ghan Temple here. He also belonged to the Bedford County Shrine Club.

A Republican, he was a member of the Bedford County GOP Executive Committee.

He was born in Hyndman August 19,1891, the son of the late Henry Grant and Alice Virginia (Whitacre) Burns.

He was married on October 16, 1912 to the former Ruth Cook, who survives him.

He also leaves three sons, Charles O. Burns Jr., Princess Anne; James Burns, State College and Thomas Burns, Severna Park; five grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Pearl Cook, Hyndman.

The body is at the Ziegler Funeral Home, Hyndman, where services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Willard M. White, pastor of Hynndman Methodist Church.

Members of Hyndman Lodge, AF&AM, will be pallbearers and interment will be in Hyndman Cemetery.

Masonic services will be conducted at the funeral home today at 8 p. m.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p. m. today.

MRS. WILLY BONNER

PARSONS, W. Va. — Mrs. Gertrude Bonner, 57, wife of Willy J. Bonner, 155 Main Street, died Tuesday in Tucker County Hospital after a long illness.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Stokes and Miss Dorothy L. Bonner, both at home; three sisters, Mrs. Bertha Bennett, of here, and Mrs. Fetta Isner and Mrs. Icie Hoffman, both of Baltimore; two brothers, John, Baltimore, and Stelman Flanagan, Cumberland, and two grandchildren.

Services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Goff Memorial Church of the Brethren by Rev. Earl Fike and Rev. Joseph Sines. Burial will be Parsons Cemetery.

The body is at the Greenlief Funeral Home.

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Army newspaper, Red Star, Tuesday attacked the John Birch Society as a "fascist organization" aiming to "unleash war" against the Soviet Union.

The bitter Red Star article was one of the first Soviet notices of the society. It charged U.S. government authorities have taken "no effective steps to do away with this scum and in effect, connive with the conspirators."

"HE GREW HAIR"

Warren Feathers, Claysburg, Penna. (near Altoona), shows he regrew hair by the Lesley Home Treatment Method.

Hair Consultant Here Tomorrow; Learn If Your Hair Loss Can Be Stopped and Baldness Prevented

Mr. J. H. Dant, representing the Lesley Hair and Scalp Consultants, will give hair and scalp consultation to hair worried men and women at the Ft. Cumberland Hotel in Cumberland, Maryland on Friday only July 21, 1961, from 1:00 P. M. to 8:00 P. M.

The Lesley Organization urges that you do not resign yourself to a future without hair.

When you first notice your hair thinning, brought on usually by dandruff, itching, dryness, oilness or follicles clogged with sebum or seborrhea, take positive action at once. See a Hair & Scalp Consultant.

HOPELESS CASES REFUSED

Lesley Consultants have established a very high reputation in the field for refusing any case that does not fall under the scope of their work. As evidence of his sincerity in believing you may be helped, the Lesley consultant wishes you to understand that the majority of cases of baldness or excessive hair loss are of a type known as male pattern baldness. There is no known cure for this, and Lesley does not claim to have such a cure.

Fortunately there are thousands upon thousands of people who, while losing their hair, DO NOT SUFFER FROM MALE PATTERN BALDNESS. Mr. Warren Feathers and Miss Sandy Curren shown in photos were among those who did not suffer from male pattern baldness and as you can see responded to the Lesley Home Treatments which they applied in the privacy of their own homes.

Hyndman Bank President Dies

Charles O. Burns, 69, president, chairman of the board of directors and cashier of the Hoblitzell National Bank, Hyndman, died Tuesday in Memorial Hospital where he had undergone surgery last Thursday.

Mr. Burns, who had lived in the Hyndman area all his life, was a leader in that community.

He had been with the bank for the past 17 years and prior to that had been engaged in the grocery business there.

The Hyndman bank was destroyed in the Christmas night fire in 1949 when most of the business section fell victim to the holocaust.

Only the vault was left standing, but on the next day the bank was in business when a temporary wooden structure was constructed around it.

Before the year was out, a modern brick bank built and, despite the loss received in the fire, Burns and the other directors voted the regular dividend.

Much of the reconstruction of the community was financed by the bank.

Mr. Burns was a member, past master and chairman of the building committee of Hyndman Lodge 589, AF&AM, and had served the lodge as secretary for 17 years.

A member of the Shrine, he belonged to Jaffa Temple, Altoona, and was an honorary member of Ali Ghan Temple here. He also belonged to the Bedford County Shrine Club.

A Republican, he was a member of the Bedford County GOP Executive Committee.

He was born in Hyndman August 19,1891, the son of the late Henry Grant and Alice Virginia (Whitacre) Burns.

He was married on October 16, 1912 to the former Ruth Cook, who survives him.

He also leaves three sons, Charles O. Burns Jr., Princess Anne; James Burns, State College and Thomas Burns, Severna Park; five grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Pearl Cook, Hyndman.

The body is at the Ziegler Funeral Home, Hyndman, where services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Willard M. White, pastor of Hynndman Methodist Church.

Members of Hyndman Lodge, AF&AM, will be pallbearers and interment will be in Hyndman Cemetery.

Masonic services will be conducted at the funeral home today at 8 p. m.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p. m. today.

Attacks Birch Society

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Army newspaper, Red Star, Tuesday attacked the John Birch Society as a "fascist organization" aiming to "unleash war" against the Soviet Union.

The bitter Red Star article was one of the first Soviet notices of the society. It charged U.S. government authorities have taken "no effective steps to do away with this scum and in effect, connive with the conspirators."

Clergymen Following Flocks Outdoors

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leisure time has become the No. 1 enemy of churchgoing.

But the churches, instead of fighting leisure, are joining it.

Religion is moving to the people, wherever they may be on Sunday morning, instead of waiting for the people to come to it.

Some clergymen say this really is what Christianity is all about. Jesus did not sit in a church waiting to receive worshippers. He moved out among the people, modern clergymen reason, so why shouldn't his 20th Century disciples do likewise?

At least one Protestant clergyman has a full-time job encouraging the mixing of religion and leisure. His parish is as big as all outdoors. He is the Rev. Warren Ost, director of the National Parks Ministry of the National Council of Churches.

Ost worked his way through seminary as a bellhop in a national park. He worried over the fact that the vacationists who flocked to the park had no place to worship on Sunday. Out of his concern for the vacationist has grown a program under which there are ministries in nearly 40 national parks.

Conduct Outdoor Services

The first year, 1952, there were 32 seminary students assigned to parks. This year, there are more than 150. They work during the week in resort hotels and restaurants as bellhops, dishwashers or waiters. On Sundays, they conduct religious services, usually out of doors. In their spare time during the week, they organize discussion groups or devotionals.

"This is America's worker-priest movement," Ost said in an interview.

"We hope it will become a spearhead for church programming for leisure America. Churches must go to the people. This is a springboard. We hope to go into resort and recreation areas, in addition to parks, and to areas surrounding major cities—the weekend communities.

"You don't need a church building or a church organization for worship. You don't even need ordained clergymen for recreational worship. Laymen, young or old, can conduct such services."

The "Christian Ministry in the National Parks" program maintains resident year-round pastors in Grand Canyon, Sequoia, Yellowstone and Yosemite National parks and a winter ski chaplaincy in Sequoia Park. Year-round student interns serve in Mount Hood National Forest, in Oregon; the Virgin Islands National Park and Zion National Park, Utah. Mount Hood has a winter ski chaplaincy.

Death Valley National Monument in California and the Everglades National Park in Florida have winter interns.

Most of the major parks have summer programs only.

Worship On Skis

The ski chaplaincy is one of the more recent developments. A layman has served as ski chaplain at Snow Ridge, in Lyons Falls, N.Y., for the last six years. Worshippers stand on skis and sing to the accompaniment of an outdoor organ.

This program has been so successful that two other ski chaplaincies are planned for California parks next winter.

Ost and other National Council officials have suggested to state councils that they recruit chaplains for other recreational areas that draw large numbers of people on Sundays.

"There is real concern on the part of the churches," he said, "that the Protestant church is losing the battle against leisure."

The image of the Protestant Church is cast in the light of the old fashioned rural economy. It is based on the fact that Sunday service used to be at 11 a.m. That resulted from the fact that services were held at the hour when the horses pulled the farmer's buckboard up in front of the church. It all depended on how long it took farmers to get into town from the farm.

That situation no longer exists. Today, city dwellers rush to the countryside on Sunday, leaving the church behind.

"The church ought to get smart," Ost said. "One of the great crises of American life is the lack of creative use of leisure. You can tell more about the dissolution of dead civilizations by what they did with their leisure than with their work."

TAX AUCTION—Some rather casual bidding is shown as County Tax Collector William B. Henry Connor, left, was bidding on the property against William Lashbaugh (right, back to camera), but Mr. Lashbaugh was the successful bidder. Looking on from top of steps are Sheriff Paul Haberlein, County Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon, Mr. Orndorff, and J. Frederick Sharer, temporary clerk in the tax office.

Clergymen Following Flocks Outdoors

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leisure time has become the No. 1 enemy of churchgoing.

But the churches, instead of fighting leisure, are joining it.

Religion is moving to the people, wherever they may be on Sunday morning, instead of waiting for the people to come to it.

Some clergymen say this really is what Christianity is all about. Jesus did not sit in a church waiting to receive worshippers. He moved out among the people, modern clergymen reason, so why shouldn't his 20th Century disciples do likewise?

At least one Protestant clergyman has a full-time job encouraging the mixing of religion and leisure. His parish is as big as all outdoors. He is the Rev. Warren Ost, director of the National Parks Ministry of the National Council of Churches.

Ost worked his way through seminary as a bellhop in a national park. He worried over the fact that the vacationists who flocked to the park had no place to worship on Sunday. Out of his concern for the vacationist has grown a program under which there are ministries in nearly 40 national parks.

Conduct Outdoor Services

The first year, 1952, there were 32 seminary students assigned to parks. This year, there are more than 150. They work during the week in resort hotels and restaurants as bellhops, dishwashers or waiters. On Sundays, they conduct religious services, usually out of doors. In their spare time during the week, they organize discussion groups or devotionals.

"This is America's worker-priest movement," Ost said in an interview.

"We hope it will become a spearhead for church programming for leisure America. Churches must go to the people. This is a springboard. We hope to go into resort and recreation areas, in addition to parks, and to areas surrounding major cities—the weekend communities.

"You don't need a church building or a church organization for worship. You don't even need ordained clergymen for recreational worship. Laymen, young or old, can conduct such services."

The "Christian Ministry in the National Parks" program maintains resident year-round pastors in Grand Canyon, Sequoia, Yellowstone and Yosemite National parks and a winter ski chaplaincy in Sequoia Park. Year-round student interns serve in Mount Hood National Forest, in Oregon; the Virgin Islands National Park and Zion National Park, Utah. Mount Hood has a winter ski chaplaincy.

Death Valley National Monument in California and the Everglades National Park in Florida have winter interns.

Most of the major parks have summer programs only.

Worship On Skis

The ski chaplaincy is one of the more recent developments. A layman has served as ski chaplain at Snow Ridge, in Lyons Falls, N.Y., for the last six years. Worshippers stand on skis and sing to the accompaniment of an outdoor organ.

This program has been so successful that two other ski chaplaincies are planned for California parks next winter.

Ost and other National Council officials have suggested to state councils that they recruit chaplains for other recreational areas that draw large numbers of people on Sundays.

"There is real concern on the part of the churches," he said, "that the Protestant church is losing the battle against leisure."

The image of the Protestant Church is cast in the light of the old fashioned rural economy. It is based on the fact that Sunday service used to be at 11 a.m. That resulted from the fact that services were held at the hour when the horses pulled the farmer's buckboard up in front of the church. It all depended on how long it took farmers to get into town from the farm.

That situation no longer exists. Today, city dwellers rush to the countryside on Sunday, leaving the church behind.

"The church ought to get smart," Ost said. "One of the great crises of American life is the lack of creative use of leisure. You can tell more about the dissolution of dead civilizations by what they did with their leisure than with their work."

A new talent for you — the talent for wearing flowers in the most flattering ways.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

How To Wear A Corsage

I never knew a charmer who didn't love to wear flowers, and who didn't make it a great pleasure for a man to send her a corsage. Have you an idea a corsage might be coming your way soon for an approaching gala occasion? Well, then, let's talk about how to wear it so you'll do yourself and your escort proud.

If it's a spray corsage, there's one certain way of pinning it on proudly that no other way can equal. Set it high and as far out on your shoulder as you can. Secure it with one pin toward the top, give it a slight diagonal slant, then use another pin at a lower point. That's all there is to it, and it's hard to believe how much difference this careful placing of blooms makes until you compare it with the other way.

Spray corsages can also be very fetching worn just above the center of your belt and arranged to hang vertically, or at a very slender waist, horizontally at one side of the belt. Round clusters also look good at a beltline, or centered at a V neckline. A tiny cluster or a splendid single flower such as a gardenia or an orchid tucks delightfully into a belt or/ as a bracelet at your wrist. Bouquets are enchanting when they're carried with enjoyment and grace in your hand.

It's just one more charming talent, this wearing of flowers in the most flattering ways. Flattering to you, and because you're so painstaking about it, flattering appreciation to the thoughtful man who wanted you to wear them.

Group To Attend Baptist Meeting

Five local persons are planning to attend the annual Maryland Baptist summer assembly scheduled July 24-29 at Hood College, Frederick.

Rev. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, Mrs. Keefe, Jannie Louise Runion, Carolyn Merrick and Nancy Merrick plan to leave early Monday morning for the assembly.

They will be accompanied to Frederick by Dr. Charlotte P. Anderson, pastor of Deep Creek Lake Baptist Church, who will instruct one of the assembly's classes.

Rev. Dr. C. Roy Angell, pastor of Central Baptist Church, Miami, Fla., will speak each day during the six-day session, sponsored by the Maryland Baptist Convention. The assembly begins Monday at 7 p. m. and ends Saturday at noon.

Explorers have discovered a ridge 5,000 feet high under the Arctic Ocean.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband can go around with a hole in his sock the size of a half dollar and never see it, but he's a perfectionist when it comes to his car. He takes it to the garage almost once a week, even though it runs fine and has never given us any trouble. The repair bills are a crime and I say they are for nothing.

The garage mechanic told my husband (in my presence last week) that there was nothing wrong with the car, but my husband left it anyway and insisted that they "go over it and find out what that old humming sound is."

After dinner some nights he will go out to the car, start up the motor and sit there in the driveway for 20 minutes just listening. When he comes back he says, "There's a little trouble under that hood. I'll have to take it to the shop tomorrow."

What can I do?—TEARING MY HAIR

DEAR TEARING: It sounds to me as if the "little trouble" is under HIS hood. He needs a brain mechanic not a grease monkey.

If this is his only symptom, say nothing. It's an easy problem compared with excessive drinking, gambling and blonde trouble.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I fell madly in love with a guy who works in our office. He was eligible, good-looking, and had a terrific personality. We went together 11 months. I was happy as a lark.

He decided to go home and see his folks during his two-week vacation. He proposed before he left and I accepted. He returned—married. It seems he "rediscovered" his childhood sweetheart.

It almost killed me but I was pleasant and congratulated him with the others. Then, thank heavens, he was transferred to another department so it was easier to get over the blow.

Five months have passed. He showed up at my house last night to tell me his marriage is falling apart. He doesn't want a divorce just yet, but he asked me to see him secretly until he can get free.

I'm ashamed to admit it but I'm still crazy about him. He swears he loves me and is begging for a chance to prove it. What should I do?—DILLY

DEAR DILLY: Look at the record. If after 11 months of courtship and a proposal he could return from a two-week vacation married, then he's capable of anything—and he's proving it. At the moment he's sneaking behind his wife's back trying to re-establish the affair with you.

If you want to louse up your life thoroughly, just take up with this scoundrel again. He's just the guy who can do it.

DEAR ANN: Your suggestion for the mother whose two kids almost kill each other in the back seat of the car whenever the family takes a trip was something less than civilized.

Parents who must spank children confess that they have no imagination. It's easy to hit a youngster. It takes control and brains to figure out a peaceful solution.

It's understandable that two young ones get bored enough on a long trip that they may begin to fight. The parents should then put one child in front with Dad, while Mom sits in back with the other. Then change. In this way, Dad can point out spots of interest, and so can Mom, and everyone will have a better time. —THE PACIFIST

DEAR PACIFIST: Your suggestion is an excellent one, and should be tried for variation, but not as a substitute for discipline.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Area Man Arrested In Moonshine Case

A McMullen Highway resident and a companion from Whitmer, Randolph County, W. Va., entered pleas of guilty to a charge of possession of moonshine when they appeared in U. S. District Court in Elkins earlier this week.

The two men are Hobert Theodore Waybright, RD 3, Keyser, and Virgil Arthur Elza, Whitmer.

They also entered guilty pleas to the charge of concealing the untaxed whisky in the auto bearing tags issued to Mrs. Waybright.

According to U. S. District Attorney for West Virginia, Robert Maxwell, the pair first exhibited the moonshine in Parsons on the Fourth of July.

Enroute to Whitmer, they stopped and gave a number of people drinks of it. When apprehended by an Internal Revenue agent at Whitmer, they had one-half gallon of moonshine in a gallon glass jar. They said they stole it in Parsons.

They will be sentenced on Thursday, July 27, by U. S. Judge Charles F. Paul of Wheeling in Elkins in the event a presentencing report by a federal probation officer is completed by that time.

A young soldier AWOL from the Army and a resident of the state of Washington, Stanley Ray Smith, was indicted by the federal grand jury in Elkins court Monday on a charge of interstate transportation of an automobile in violation of the Dyer Act.

Smith, who entered a plea of guilty Tuesday, was charged with taking the car from Washington, D. C., and abandoning it at Scherr in Mineral County.

Roy Edward Smith of Camp Springs, Md., was indicted on two charges of transporting stolen vehicles across the state line.

Maxwell said Smith gave bad checks for both autos, taking one from Clinton, Md., to Romney, and the other from Camp Springs to Elkins.

Smith is in custody in Winchester on a charge of violating his parole.

D.C. Tax Rate Upped

WASHINGTON (AP)—The District of Columbia commissioners voted unanimously Tuesday to increase Washingtons' real estate rate by 20 cents.

The increase, from $2.30 to $2.50 per $100 of assessed valuation, is retroactive to July 1.

If it's a spray corsage, there's one certain way of pinning it on proudly that no other way can equal. Set it high and as far out on your shoulder as you can. Secure it with one pin toward the top, give it a slight diagonal slant, then use another pin at a lower point. That's all there is to it, and it's hard to believe how much difference this careful placing of blooms makes until you compare it with the other way.

Spray corsages can also be very fetching worn just above the center of your belt and arranged to hang vertically, or at a very slender waist, horizontally at one side of the belt. Round clusters also look good at a beltline, or centered at a V neckline. A tiny cluster or a splendid single flower such as a gardenia or an orchid tucks delightfully into a belt or as a bracelet at your wrist. Bouquets are enchanting when they're carried with enjoyment and grace in your hand.

It's just one more charming talent, this wearing of flowers in the most flattering ways. Flattering to you, and because you're so painstaking about it, flattering appreciation to the thoughtful man who wanted you to wear them.

Group To Attend Baptist Meeting

Five local persons are planning to attend the annual Maryland Baptist summer assembly scheduled July 24-29 at Hood College, Frederick.

Rev. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, Mrs. Keefe, Jannie Louise Runion, Carolyn Merrick and Nancy Merrick plan to leave early Monday morning for the assembly.

They will be accompanied to Frederick by Dr. Charlotte P. Anderson, pastor of Deep Creek Lake Baptist Church, who will instruct one of the assembly's classes.

Rev. Dr. C. Roy Angell, pastor of Central Baptist Church, Miami, Fla., will speak each day during the six-day session, sponsored by the Maryland Baptist Convention. The assembly begins Monday at 7 p. m. and ends Saturday at noon.

Explorers have discovered a ridge 5,000 feet high under the Arctic Ocean.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband can go around with a hole in his sock the size of a half dollar and never see it, but he's a perfectionist when it comes to his car. He takes it to the garage almost once a week, even though it runs fine and has never given us any trouble. The repair bills are a crime and I say they are for nothing.

The garage mechanic told my husband (in my presence last week) that there was nothing wrong with the car, but my husband left it anyway and insisted that they "go over it and find out what that old humming sound is."

After dinner some nights he will go out to the car, start up the motor and sit there in the driveway for 20 minutes just listening. When he comes back he says, "There's a little trouble under that hood. I'll have to take it to the shop tomorrow."

What can I do?—TEARING MY HAIR

DEAR TEARING: It sounds to me as if the "little trouble" is under HIS hood. He needs a brain mechanic not a grease monkey.

If this is his only symptom, say nothing. It's an easy problem compared with excessive drinking, gambling and blonde trouble.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I fell madly in love with a guy who works in our office. He was eligible, good-looking, and had a terrific personality. We went together 11 months. I was happy as a lark.

He decided to go home and see his folks during his two-week vacation. He proposed before he left and I accepted. He returned—married. It seems he "rediscovered" his childhood sweetheart.

It almost killed me but I was pleasant and congratulated him with the others. Then, thank heavens, he was transferred to another department so it was easier to get over the blow.

Five months have passed. He showed up at my house last night to tell me his marriage is falling apart. He doesn't want a divorce just yet, but he asked me to see him secretly until he can get free.

I'm ashamed to admit it but I'm still crazy about him. He swears he loves me and is begging for a chance to prove it. What should I do?—DILLY

DEAR DILLY: Look at the record. If after 11 months of courtship and a proposal he could return from a two-week vacation married, then he's capable of anything—and he's proving it. At the moment he's sneaking behind his wife's back trying to re-establish the affair with you.

If you want to louse up your life thoroughly, just take up with this scoundrel again. He's just the guy who can do it.

DEAR ANN: Your suggestion for the mother whose two kids almost kill each other in the back seat of the car whenever the family takes a trip was something less than civilized.

Parents who must spank children confess that they have no imagination. It's easy to hit a youngster. It takes control and brains to figure out a peaceful solution.

It's understandable that two young ones get bored enough on a long trip that they may begin to fight. The parents should then put one child in front with Dad, while Mom sits in back with the other. Then change. In this way, Dad can point out spots of interest, and so can Mom, and everyone will have a better time. —THE PACIFIST

DEAR PACIFIST: Your suggestion is an excellent one, and should be tried for variation, but not as a substitute for discipline.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Area Man Arrested In Moonshine Case

A McMullen Highway resident and a companion from Whitmer, Randolph County, W. Va., entered pleas of guilty to a charge of possession of moonshine when they appeared in U. S. District Court in Elkins earlier this week.

The two men are Hobert Theodore Waybright, RD 3, Keyser, and Virgil Arthur Elza, Whitmer.

They also entered guilty pleas to the charge of concealing the untaxed whisky in the auto bearing tags issued to Mrs. Waybright.

According to U. S. District Attorney for West Virginia, Robert Maxwell, the pair first exhibited the moonshine in Parsons on the Fourth of July.

Enroute to Whitmer, they stopped and gave a number of people drinks of it. When apprehended by an Internal Revenue agent at Whitmer, they had one-half gallon of moonshine in a gallon glass jar. They said they stole it in Parsons.

They will be sentenced on Thursday, July 27, by U. S. Judge Charles F. Paul of Wheeling in Elkins in the event a pre-sentencing report by a federal probation officer is completed by that time.

A young soldier AWOL from the Army and a resident of the state of Washington, Stanley Ray Smith, was indicted by the federal grand jury in Elkins court Monday on a charge of interstate transportation of an automobile in violation of the Dyer Act.

Smith, who entered a plea of guilty Tuesday, was charged with taking the car from Washington, D. C., and abandoning it at Scherr in Mineral County.

Roy Edward Smith of Camp Springs, Md., was indicted on two charges of transporting stolen vehicles across the state line.

Maxwell said Smith gave bad checks for both autos, taking one from Clinton, Md., to Romney, and the other from Camp Springs to Elkins.

Smith is in custody in Winchester on a charge of violating his parole.

D.C. Tax Rate Upped

WASHINGTON (AP)—The District of Columbia commissioners voted unanimously Tuesday to increase Washingtons' real estate rate by 20 cents.

The increase, from $2.30 to $2.50 per $100 of assessed valuation, is retroactive to July 1.

City Rejects Offer By AMA For Survey

An offer by the American Municipal Association to make a pilot study of urban transportation has been made too late for the city to take advantage of the proposal.

Richard C. Cowdery, transportation planning specialist for the AMA, informed Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday that in view of the fact Cumberland is planning on retaining a planning and zoning consultant the AMA study would only duplicate most of the work to be done.

Cowdery, however, told the Mayor the services of the AMA would be available to any planner hired by the city, and that its staff of engineers and experts also would be placed at the disposal of the city after the planner's contract expires.

The pilot study offered by the national association carries the approval of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, Cowdery explained, adding that most aspects of the program is eligible for federal financial assistance.

The Mayor explained the city is expected to select a firm next Monday to help the town in its planning and zoning problems, adding that more are expected to arise as the city's Thruway work progresses.

Much of the pilot study would have been similar to the program explained recently by Donald M. McNeil, a traffic engineer from Pittsburgh, who was brought here by the Retail Merchants Association.

The AMA program, Cowdery said, operates on "tried and true" methods that have been developed in municipal studies throughout the country. Essentially, he explained, the pilot studies are offered cities on a do-it-yourself basis, with the AMA offering its services on an advisory basis.

The Mayor and Cowdery reviewed problems such as parking, urban renewal and development, with the two men agreeing traffic needs a continual study within communities because of change in land use.

Cowdery also informed the mayor the AMA would help train any city employe designated to keep abreast of traffic, parking and land use problems.

Sanitary Unit Engages Firm For Surveys

The Allegany County Sanitary Commission has engaged the Matz, Childs and Associates firm of consultants in Baltimore to conduct feasibility surveys for two sanitary districts, according to Playford Aldridge, commission chairman.

Aldridge said one sanitary district would encompass the area from the bottom of Dingle Hill, the Bowling Green area and Potomac Park.

The second sanitary district would cover Cresaptown from the Helmer-Hedrick firm's plant on McMullen Highway to the Second National Bank's branch bank at the outskirts of the town.

Aldridge also announced that petitions which have been obtained from residents of the Rawlings area and in the Ellerslie section were checked by the Sanitary Commission but no action will be taken pending further checking of the authenticity of the petitioners.

County Invests In Treasury Bills

County Commissioner John T. Mason reported to the board Tuesday that he has invested a total of $450,000 in U. S. Treasury bills on short terms.

One investment of $150,000 at 2.04 per cent interest will mature August 31 while a $300,000 investment will earn 2.20 per cent interest with September 28 the maturity date.

The county previously invested $2,100,000 in two Cumberland banks for various periods of time and at different interest rates depending on the time they would be invested.

Since the program was started by the Democratically-controlled board the county has earned more than $75,000 from invested funds. The first year the county invested in U. S. government bonds and last year local banks accepted funds for investment.

Tests Show Improvement In North Branch Water

Continued improvement in the quality of water in the North Branch of the Potomac River between Luke and Cumberland is indicated in the Potomac River Quality Network Report issued by the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin for the water year ended September 1960, according to Julian G. Patrick, Luke, consultant to the commission.

Purpose of the publication is to establish basic measurements of existing water quality at as many key points as possible throughout the basin, draining parts of Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

Indicators of a generally improved stream quality as shown in the newest network report, Patrick said, are:

1. Temperature averages are still one degree lower due to the supplementation of the river flow at Luke by water from the Savage River Dam.

2. Water from this reservoir, being neutral, also reduces the acidity coming from coal mines (a steady flow) along the Potomac above Luke. Alkalinity of the river at Cumberland has been steadily reduced to just under neutral by further curtailment of alkaline wastes from the Luke Mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper. These waste waters for the past year have been corrected to reduce their potency by running them through modern treatment plants. This abatement of pollutants has resulted in a generally improved appearance and character of the river downstream. With lessening or weakening of alkaline wastes the acidity from the mines in the Upper Potomac and from Georges Creek is extending farther down the river. This acid water, although rather corrosive, does have some beneficial effect in that it kills or retards the growth of most bacteria, thus, in one phase, aiding water quality.

3. Pollution of water is mostly evaluated by the biochemical oxygen demand of its constituents, particularly the quantity of organic matter that consume oxygen. Oxygen is needed for the support of aquatic life and must not be under a definite limit of the amount dissolved in the water, especially during warm summer months. The current report indicates the average percentage of dissolved oxygen, which also is correlated with the biochemical oxygen demand, is several points higher than a year ago.

4. Turbidity (suspended soil or other particles) remain variable due to weather erosion of strip mines, highway construction and some malpractices in cultivating farm land.

The biochemical oxygen demand and the bacterial count probably will decline during the coming year, Patrick said, after the sanitary sewage from Westernport is run into the Upper Potomac River Commission's waste treatment plant now handling pulp and paper mill wastes from Luke. Construction work of laying the trunk and branch sewer lines in Westernport is now in progress and is expected to be completed this year. Plans are also being completed for making similar sewage connections from Piedmont to the same treatment plant. When this becomes a reality, almost 100 per cent of the major industrial and municipal wastes from the Tri-Towns will be treated before entering the river, Patrick said.

Total solids, both suspended and dissolved, are reported from most stations for the first time in the current report, Patrick explained, and consequently can not be compared with preceding years for any indicative conclusion. The average general amounts, however, are median or low to those noted in some stretches of the river in past years. Except for the washing of debris from stream-side trash and garbage dumps little or no floating litter has been evident in the river for a year or more, indicating more cooperation and consideration by the public in not using the stream for waste disposal.

During the 1960 period, eight additional sampling and testing stations were established, raising the total to 80 as compared with 41 reporting two years ago. The newest stations started in this area are at Romney, on the South Branch Potomac, operated by the Town of Romney, and at Oldtown on the North Branch. Two stations, one above and one below the Cumberland sewage treatment plant, were reactivated in May 1960 with the tests being made at that plant. These stations were started too late in the year for data to be included in the current report.

Another innovation, started in late August 1960, is the reporting on bacteria counts made through the cooperation of the Maryland Department of Health at the Cumberland laboratory. These figures are significant of the approximate amount of sanitary sewage in the river. With this addition, all phases of water quality—hydrological, physical, chemical, biochemical and bacteriological — are determined.

Patrick said the commission is grateful to all of the cooperating industries, municipalities and state agencies participating in the sampling and testing program and thereby showing their interest in improving the quality of the Potomac River.

Along the North Branch the cooperators are West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Celanese Fibers Company, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, City of Cumberland, and State Department of Health, Cumberland.

LONDON (UPI)—British educators hope to teach 1,000 schoolchildren to read in two weeks with a 43-letter alphabet and spellings like "wuns upon a tiem."

The Allegany County Sanitary Commission has engaged the Matz, Childs and Associates firm of consultants in Baltimore to conduct feasibility surveys for two sanitary districts, according to Playford Aldridge, commission chairman.

Aldridge said one sanitary district would encompass the area from the bottom of Dingle Hill, the Bowling Green area and Potomac Park.

The second sanitary district would cover Cresaptown from the Helmer-Hedrick firm's plant on McMullen Highway to the Second National Bank's branch bank at the outskirts of the town.

Aldridge also announced that petitions which have been obtained from residents of the Rawlings area and in the Ellerslie section were checked by the Sanitary Commission but no action will be taken pending further checking of the authenticity of the petitioners.

County Invests In Treasury Bills

County Commissioner John T. Mason reported to the board Tuesday that he has invested a total of $450,000 in U. S. Treasury bills on short terms.

One investment of $150,000 at 2:04 per cent interest will mature August 31 while a $300,000 investment will earn 2.20 per cent interest with September 28 the maturity date.

The county previously invested $2,100,000 in two Cumberland banks for various periods of time and at different interest rates depending on the time they would be invested.

Since the program was started by the Democratically-controlled board the county has earned more than $75,000 from invested funds. The first year the county invested in U. S. government bonds and last year local banks accepted funds for investment.

Tests Show Improvement In North Branch Water

Continued improvement in the quality of water in the North Branch of the Potomac River between Luke and Cumberland is indicated in the Potomac River Quality Network Report issued by the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin for the water year ended September 1960, according to Julian G. Patrick, Luke, consultant to the commission.

Purpose of the publication is to establish basic measurements of existing water quality at as many key points as possible throughout the basin, draining parts of Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

Indicators of a generally improved stream quality as shown in the newest network report, Patrick said, are:

1. Temperature averages are still one degree lower due to the supplementation of the river flow at Luke by water from the Savage River Dam.

2. Water from this reservoir, being neutral, also reduces the acidity coming from coal mines (a steady flow) along the Potomac above Luke. Alkalinity of the river at Cumberland has been steadily reduced to just under neutral by further curtailment of alkaline wastes from the Luke Mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper. These waste waters for the past year have been corrected to reduce their potency by running them through modern treatment plants. This abatement of pollutants has resulted in a generally improved appearance and character of the river downstream. With lessening or weakening of alkaline wastes the acidity from the mines in the Upper Potomac and from Georges Creek is extending farther down the river. This acid water, although rather corrosive, does have some beneficial effect in that it kills or retards the growth of most bacteria, thus, in one phase, aiding water quality.

3. Pollution of water is mostly evaluated by the biochemical oxygen demand of its constituents, particularly the quantity of organic matter that consume oxygen. Oxygen is needed for the support of aquatic life and must not be under a definite limit of the amount dissolved in the water, especially during warm summer months. The current report indicates the average percentage of dissolved oxygen, which also is correlated with the biochemical oxygen demand, is several points higher than a year ago.

4. Turbidity (suspended soil or other particles) remain variable due to weather erosion of strip mines, highway construction and some malpractices in cultivating farm land.

The biochemical oxygen demand and the bacterial count probably will decline during the coming year, Patrick said, after the sanitary sewage from Westernport is run into the Upper Potomac River Commission's waste treatment plant now handling pulp and paper mill wastes from Luke. Construction work of laying the trunk and branch sewer lines in Westernport is now in progress and is expected to be completed this year. Plans are also being completed for making similar sewage connections from Piedmont to the same treatment plant. When this becomes a reality, almost 100 per cent of the major industrial and municipal wastes from the Tri-Towns will be treated before entering the river, Patrick said.

Total solids, both suspended and dissolved, are reported from most stations for the first time in the current report, Patrick explained, and consequently can not be compared with preceding years for any indicative conclusion. The average general amounts, however, are median or low to those noted in some stretches of the river in past years. Except for the washing of debris from stream-side trash and garbage dumps little or no floating litter has been evident in the river for a year or more, indicating more cooperation and consideration by the public in not using the stream for waste disposal.

During the 1960 period, eight additional sampling and testing stations were established, raising the total to 80 as compared with 41 reporting two years ago. The newest stations started in this area are at Romney, on the South Branch Potomac, operated by the Town of Romney, and at Oldtown on the North Branch. Two stations, one above and one below the Cumberland sewage treatment plant, were reactivated in May 1960 with the tests being made at that plant. These stations were started too late in the year for data to be included in the current report.

Another innovation, started in late August 1960, is the reporting on bacteria counts made through the cooperation of the Maryland Department of Health at the Cumberland laboratory. These figures are significant of the approximate amount of sanitary sewage in the river. With this addition, all phases of water quality—hydrological, physical, chemical, biochemical and bacteriological — are determined.

Patrick said the commission is grateful to all of the cooperating industries, municipalities and state agencies participating in the sampling and testing program and thereby showing their interest in improving the quality of the Potomac River.

Along the North Branch the cooperators are West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Celanese Fibers Company, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, City of Cumberland, and State Department of Health, Cumberland.

The University of London Institute of Education announced Tuesday that the new alphabet, which drops Q and X and adds 19 new letters to represent sounds, cuts learning to read time by 50 to 60 per cent.

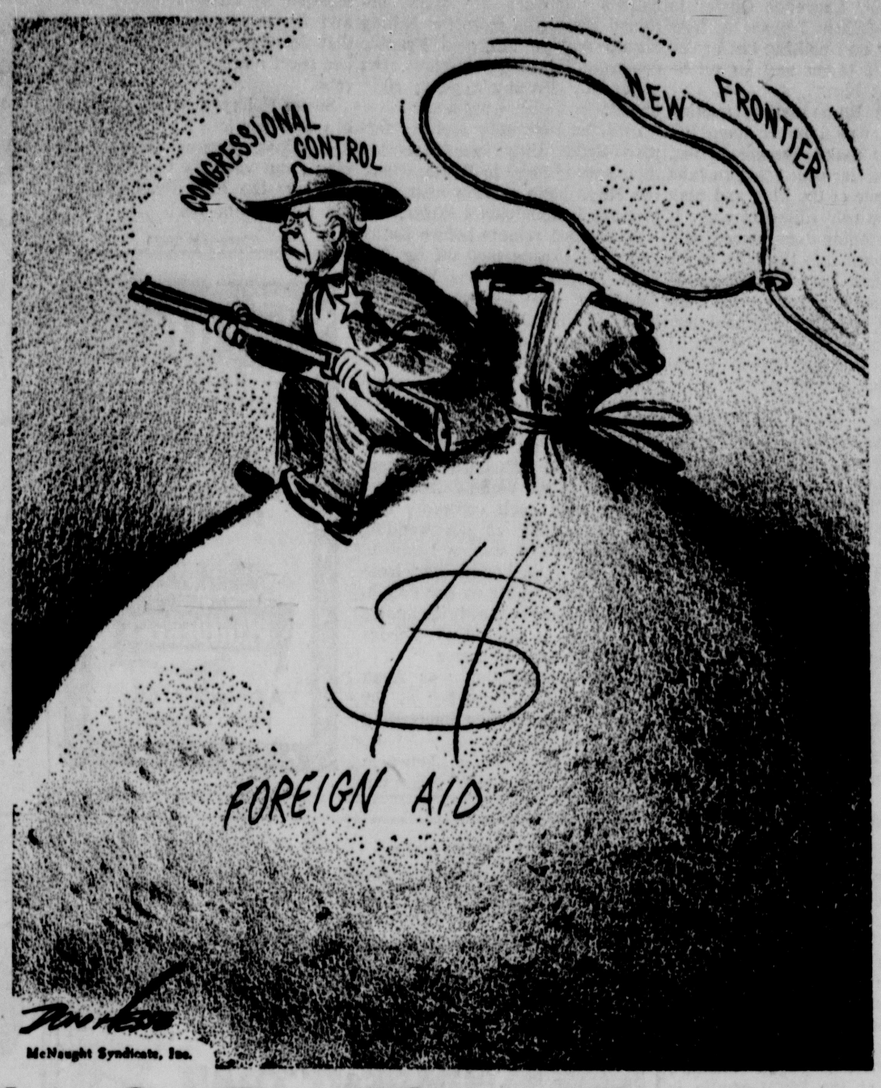
Trying To Bushwhack The Sheriff



Competition From Japan

A prime manufacturing metal—copper—is running into short supply in the United States as a result of the methods employed by Japanese purchasers of scrap and copper ore in world markets. American smelters are finding it virtually impossible to compete with Japanese buyers even in the United States.

Behind the Japanese advantage lies a two-pronged protective device of the Tokyo government. Subsidies paid to smelters and manufacturing buyers of the basic metal enable them to buy copper ore at five cents a pound more than the market price for refined copper.

This terrific price advantage for Japanese concerns is aided by a 10 per cent tariff on imported refined copper. This effectively eliminates foreign competition in Japan's domestic market, while the subsidized price it can pay for the raw materials enables it to buy scrap and ore almost at will.

The U. S. State Department, acting as a result of complaints from American copper firms, has tried in vain to negotiate a settlement of the problem with Japanese trade officials. One immediate result of the Japanese policy is to drive up prices. Scrap and ingot prices have risen 15 per cent since the beginning of 1961. Japan buys 80 per cent of its scrap in the U. S., draining the supply available for American users.

The International General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade calls for discussion of any trade barriers deemed unnecessarily severe by any member country.

The United States has in many instances damaged its own industries to live up to the spirit of GATT agreements. But when a commodity as basic and essential to the economy as copper becomes the object of international trade abuse, no country can afford to cripple its own industry while waiting for reciprocity in trade relations which is not forthcoming.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Now They May Pray

There has been quite an excitement over the question as to whether children in public school may be required or even permitted to pray. The Board of Regents of the State of New York had worked out a non-sectarian prayer. A group of parents objected to prayers of any kind and brought suit. Their grounds were that by having a prayer the State of New York was sponsoring religion. It made it an offense to advocate religion in a school building but not to advocate party politics.

Mind, the state was not accused of sponsoring a particular religion but any kind of religion. What the parents had in mind was the highly advertised slogan about the separation of church and state. It is presumed that the Constitution of the United States discusses this profound subject. Yet one may search word by word, letter by letter, and he will find not one word in the Constitution about separation of church and state or anything forbidding prayers in school, or the singing of Christmas or Chanuka hymns, or for that matter the reading of a Hindu sutra.

As Associate Judge Charles W. Froessel, who is a top man among Masons, said about calling daily prayers unconstitutional that it is stretching "the so-called separation of church and state doctrine beyond reason."

But then there are many who call themselves rationalists who often go beyond reason in matters of religion. They fear beyond words that a child may grow up to know God, or Moses or Jesus, or Micah, but they have no fear of Karl Marx or Frederick Engels or even Stalin. Some persons, these days, are so secular that they worry lest their children discover that Man has had a long history and that history did not start in 1933.

Associate Judge Marvin R. Dye called the prayer "a form of state-sponsored religious education." How the learned Judge reached this conclusion, it is difficult to understand, particularly as he makes the point that the use of the prayer overstepped "a clearly defined line of demarcation between church and state."

If the line is so clearly demarcated, how come that cases are constantly being brought in the courts on the issue? How is it that there is such a difference of opinion on the subject, so that when a decision is handed down, there is such a division of opinion among the judges? In a word, Judge Dye's "defined line of demarcation" is not yet a defined line. It is a very shaky line, about which too many of us are quarreling. It is an issue which will never be solved because too many emotions are aroused by the very mention of the subject.

In the United States, religious groupings are as intense as nationalistic groupings are in Europe. Furthermore, the competitive nature of American society expresses itself in religious movements as in all else. Advertising and public relations methods are used to keep adherents in active membership and there is a constant effort to increase membership by propaganda. All religions and sects engage in this activity, even advertising in newspapers and bringing their quarrels out into the open.

During the Roosevelt regime, the trend in all things became liberal and many liberals moved over into Communism. This was true among the clergy as it was of professors and students in universities, and every once in a while, it was shocking to discover a clergyman supporting and defending a doctrine which is atheistic in its essence, and a party which has made atheism part of its creed. This dichotomy was often explained but it was never understandable.

However, since those days, this trend has lessened, as has the trend to bring sects together into cooperative efforts. Today, each religious group makes its strongest appeal to its own kind to keep it distinct, separate, and segregated. The assimilationist is not as popular as he was when Hitler stirred men's consciences. Today, each group prefers to stand alone and brooks no interference.

The atheist has also been active, fighting for his cause. He is always the spearhead in a battle against such evidences of religion as prayers in schools. He opposes prayers per se as opiates. We shall have to make up our minds: whether our moral sanctions are to be determined by religious creeds or by atheism and rationalism. The atheists may be forcing the issue.

President Will Ask Americans To Prepare Fallout Shelters

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has decided that the most effective step the American people can take to show that they mean to stand firm over Berlin is an immediate air raid shelter program. As a result, the President will send a special message to Congress in the immediate future asking for all-out preparation against radio-active fall-out both by the goyernment, by cities and states, and by individual Americans.

The strategy behind this is to convince the Kremlin that the American people are willing to undergo atomic war—if necessary—rather than yield further in Europe.

It is no secret to the Kremlin that the American army has only 14 divisions against the Red army's 174; that the Red air force is now just as big as ours and that Russia has considerably more long-range missiles than the United States. Therefore the sending of a couple of extra U. S. divisions to West Germany would not impress the Kremlin.

What will impress the Kremlin is American willingness to undergo atomic war. Because it's in the stockpiling of hydrogen and atomic bombs that the United States has a definite lead over Russia.

Do-It-Yourself Shelters

The President's message will point out that it's quite possible to organize fallout shelters in a short space of time, and that this can be done by cities and individuals, as well as states and the federal government.

What is needed immediately is a survey of buildings with thick walls or interior accommodations to withstand radioactive fallout. The interior of the Merchandise Mart in Chicago, for instance, one of the largest office buildings in the world, could serve as a fallout shelter. Other office buildings could also serve.

They need to be surveyed, marked with signs and equipped with emergency food rations. Under the President's proposed program this is to be done in a hurry.

It's also possible for many families to transform their basements into fallout shelters. The average basement can reduce fallout damage to one-fortieth or one-fiftieth. But if the windows are shored up with sandbags, the fallout damage can be reduced by one two-hundredth.

This is something the average family can do in areas where the bomb does not actually hit. In areas where there is a direct hit, the problem is far greater and will require government initiative.

However, the President plans to lay the entire program before the American people in the very near future.

"Vice President" Sherman Adams

Friends of Sherman Adams report that at long last he is to get a job. He will become vice president of the Manufacturers Trust Company in New York.

Ever since he left the White House as Eisenhower's right hand man, Adams has been without employment. Eisenhower himself asked some of his business friends to take Adams into their organization—without success.

However, Gabriel Hauge, chairman of the Bank's Finance Committee, and former assistant to Eisenhower, has now intervened to get Adams placed as vice president of the Manufacturers Trust.

Note — One wisecrack going around Washington is that the dedication on the fly-leaf of Sherman Adams' new book reads: "To Bernard Goldfine without whom I would not have had the leisure time to write this book." Actually it's dedicated to his wife Rachel. But on the page just before the table of contents appears another inscription: "I wish to acknowledge the help of Joe McCarthy in the editing of the final manuscript for publication." This has confused and startled some people, insomuch as the late Senator Joe McCarthy once plagued Adams with many embarrassing problems, and if Adams had been able to establish contact with him, we should stop trying to send a man to the moon and concentrate on Sherman Adams' secret. However, Sherman's friend is another Joe McCarthy.

New York-To-Moscow

There's a very interesting inside reason why the Soviet Union has suddenly started bilateral treaty negotiations to give Pan American Airways and Aeroflot reciprocal landing privileges in Moscow and New York.

Original negotiations between Pan Am and Aerflot began three years ago, but got nowhere. Now the Soviet has a very good reason for resuming them: it wants a short route to Moscow's newest and nearest satellite, Cuba.

Last winter, en route home from South America, I traveled KLM because of the U. S. airplane strike and was interested in noting 30 Russian technicians on my plane en route to Cuba. They had flown the long way round from Moscow to Amsterdam then south of Cuba to the Dutch Island of Curacao, then north to Havana. This was because no Russian plane could land in New York on the shorter, easier route to Havana.

Now, if direct flights are OK'd for Pan American and Aeroflot, Russian passengers bound for Cuba will not have to take the long way round via the Dutch West Indies. They can merely stay on the big Aeroflot plane for and hour at Idlewild under immigration guard, then continue their flight south to Havana.

West Set For Military Showdown With Soviet

By David Lawrence

PARIS — The West is prepared for a military showdown with the Soviet Union. Such an assurance can be obtained from the supreme headquarters of the allied powers in Europe, which will have the chief responsibility for military operations.

The foregoing would not be written today were it not for the fact that Nikita Khrushchev's speeches and statements lately are accepted as a threat of war that cannot be ignored.

Several times the Soviet Premier has said publicly that he intends to use military force to compel the allies to get out of Berlin before the end of the year. He has also dashed any hopes that the United Nations might resolve the dispute over Berlin by declaring that he "would not recognize" any U.N. decision that is not in his favor, but would use military force in disregard of such a decision.

Thus, as in 1939, has one man again told the world that war is threatened.

Under the circumstances, the Western allies can consider that they have been given notice of an intention to start a war against them.

What are the Western powers doing about it? They are studying their plans anew. and it is no secret that they do not consider the defense of Berlin by itself as desirable and that they do consider that any military operation in the vicinity of Berlin will inevitable require action in other areas bordering on the Soviet Union.

It is important to clear the air about the use of "conventional forces." The operations that might develop include the possible use of tactical weapons with nuclear warheads. Perhaps the most authoritative statement about this is that made recently by General Lauris Norstad, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, when he said in a speech to the NATO parliamentarians conference:

"I would like to summarize what I have said in the form of a statement of some facts, some assumptions, some objectives, of the type, and presented in the manner in which I might give to the planners of my staff. In fact, I should admit that, in one way or another, I have given these points to the planners.

"1.—The threat continues. As we enter the seventh decade of this century, it is still — that is, the threat is still—by its nature, political, economic and military. It is found throughout the world. Unless other real guarantees are obtained, the security of Europe demands military strength.

"2.—The particular purposes for which the shield forces are being created, and the general purposes which govern their deployment and use, are not only valid, but are of even greater importance in the period of nuclear plenty and missile delivery into which we are now moving.

"3.—The forces presently planned for depolyment in Europe would be generally adequate in quantity, but their weapons and their survival posture must be improved, and this is on an urgent basis.

"4.—The forces of Allied Command Europe must be organized, equipped, trained and deployed so as to be able to react promptly and effectively with:

"First, conventional weapons, when such weapons are adequate to the military situation.

"Second, atomic weapons, when the use of such weapons is necessary.

"5.—Except in certain well-defined cases of direct self-defense, atomic weapons should be introduced into battle only after a particular decision to do so has resulted from the operatoin of an established decision-making process. This process will insure that such a decision would, in all cases, be taken by an authority at a level higher than that of the basic combat unit and that the level of combat would have been raised above that which could be dealt with by conventional weapons."

This is the military policy of the West which is in effect today. Any outbreak of hostilities in and around Berlin will be considered to involve broad defense operations in other parts of Europe as well.

The Soviets have more divisions of troops today in East Germany than the allies have in West Germany. But numerical superiority in ground troops is not the sole factor of measurement. The West has several atomic bases and several bomber fields ready for the launching of instant retaliation the moment the Soviets open fire anywhere in Europe. Thus the prospect that a ground war can be fought in a "limited" area has been brushed aside here in military circles as absolutely out of the question. Instead, there is a firm decision to treat any Soveit military action from a purely military point of view — to regard it as a signal for immediate counterattack by all military means available.

Any thought that a military demonstration of a division or two near Berlin will be undertaken as a part of the political fencing that's going on can be dismissed as impractical. Nikita Khrushchev must know that, once the firing starts in a nuclear age, he will have started a blaze that cannot be localized. This, at any rate, is the thinking of the men who have the responsibility for the defense of Western Europe. The Soviets should be pondering these things carefully, too, in Moscow.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

JOHNSON'S JOB — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is the person designated by the Constitution to preside over the Senate when it is in session. Obviously, the globe-trotting Johnson cannot be in the Senate and in Viet Nam at the same time. He solves this by appointing another senator of either party to sit in his place for short periods of time.

Because senators are busy men, those with the least seniority — the freshmen, in other words — draw the onerous task. It's usually a bore, with little to do except occasionally relay some ruling by the parliamentarian to a sparsely attended session.

One junior senator, however, has made a virtue of the chore. Sen. J. J. Hickey, D-Wyo., has compiled a record of his periods of presiding over the Senate, and has proudly announced that he holds the record for this session. So far, he has presided a total of 62 hours and 10 minutes.

His nearest competitor, Hickey says, is Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., another freshman, who has exercised this honor a mere 49 hours and 40 minutes. We can't help but think of Tom Sawyer and the fence whitewashing episode. If Senator Hickey boasts enough, he might create such a great demand for the honor, that he'll never have to preside over the Senate again.

Recovery Slow For Viral Hepatitis Victims

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The epidemic of viral hepatitis is slackening in that fewer cases are being reported to health departments. We hope victims of this tricky disease allow themselves sufficient time to get well. A small percentage will continue to be ill for months or years (chronic hepatitis).

When the disorder hangs on, the yellow color of the skin usually disappears but weakness, indigestion, loss of appetite, and abdominal distress often persist. Many feel depressed, nervous, or anxious. Some find it difficult to concentrate, or develop insomnia. Laboratory tests show a smoldering infection in the liver.

Chronic hepatitis may have serious implications. Some sufferers become carriers as the causative virus remains in the blood for months. Those who have had hepatitis should not donate blood for a transfusion for at least a year after all signs and symptoms of the liver infection subside. This is done to avoid serum hepatitis, a form of the disease acquired via blood transfusions or contaminated serum.

There is a relationship between viral hepatitis and cirrhosis of the liver. Cirrhosis of the liver, similar to that resulting from drinking, occurs in a small percentage of people who have had hepatitis. Primary cancer of the liver is not common but 30 per cent of those who develop this condition had cirrhosis previously.

The hepatitis victim has two strikes against him when it comes to alcohol and nutrition. He should baby the organ, not overtax it.

R. E. writes: Is high blood pressure the penalty for brilliance, precocity, and brains in a young person?

REPLY

Heredity is a more likely origin of hypertension. This type of personality usually carries the weight of the world on his shoulders and cannot relax or delegate responsibility. On the other hand, high blood pressure occurs also in the nonintellectual.

FACIAL PAIN

M. V. writes: My husband has pain on one side of the face. The company doctor says it is tic douloureux and our physician called it trigeminal neuralgia. Are they the same?

REPLY

Yes. This painful condition also is known as facial neuralgia. Distress is shooting in character and is precipitated by pressure on so-called trigger areas.

HIVES FROM MEDICINE

Mrs. M. C. writes: Is there such a thing as allergy to drugs? My 20-year-old daughter developed a severe attack of hives after taking the first reducing pill. She stopped the pills and then started taking them again and again developed hives.

REPLY

Yes. This girl must be overly sensitive to the drug to develop hives after one tablet. Hereafter, when taking medicines, she ought to be extremely careful to avoid a more serious reaction.

Yes, but if this woman knows she has myxedema, why doesn't she do something about it instead of worrying about a Turkish bath? This condition stems from a sluggish thyroid gland and is easily corrected with thyroid extract or triiodothyronine.

Try And Stop Me

Have you caught up with the story of the Las Vegas transient who awoke with bad pains in his stomach one night and put in a hurry call for the house physician? That gentleman gave him a quick examination, folded up his stethoscope, and said, "I'll give you four to one you have acute appendicitis."

Healthways Magazine defines a specialist as a doctor who has trained his patients to get sick only on a weekday between ten and four; a general practitioner, on the other hand, is likely to be called off the golf course at any time.

A Denver elocution teacher told Stan Peckham to practice speaking with pebbles in his mouth. "I was doing fine," recalls Peckham, "until one day I got the hiccups. I broke two mirrors and the picture window."

The 'Do-Badders'

By Gore Vidal

John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away, his column will be conducted by guest writers.

When I was running for Congress last year (Now there's a phrase to empty a room!) I was asked the same planted question at nearly every meeting: Are you in favor of the House Un-American Activities Committee? My answer was usually more cautious than candid. For purposes of legislation, Congress has a constitutional right to investigate anything it wants to, and I am all for Congress's traditional privilege.

But then I would suggest tactfully to my audience that HUAC had produced less legislation at a greater cost than any committee in Congressional history, and as for its chairmen—well, who could admire Martin Dies? Or that super-patriot J. Parnell Thomas, who went from Congress to the clink? Or the present chairman Francis Walter, whose only legislative distinction is the notorious Walter-McCarran Immigration Act, a sly bit of work Cardinal Cushing felt could not "be defended without recourse to the discredited and un-Christian tenet of racism." I left the subject there, realizing that the lunatic Right has worked out a fine (and to many people perfectly reasonable) syllogism. HUAC is against un-American activities. Mr. Blank is against HUAC. Therefore, Mr. Blank favors un-American activities.

Fortunately, a brilliant case against HUAC has now been made by Frank J. Donner, a constitutional lawyer, in a book called "The Unamericans," to be published by Ballantine as a paperback this month. Using transcripts and documents, Donner records the whole sordid history of HUAC from its beginning in 1938. Originally, HUAC was a short-term investigating committee which evolved gradually into a standing committee though, contrary to precedent, its function is not legislative, but simply "exposing" Communists. John Rankin, of Mississippi, was godfather to HUAC in the House at the time of its metamorphosis in 1945. When Walter Winchell, among others, attacked the committee, Rankin dismissed the columnist with characteristic charm as that "Communistic little kike."

Neither in the past nor in the present has HUAC ever found "un-American" any fascist or racist organization. In fact, in 1942, the Ku Klux Klan's Imperial Wizard James Colescott said, "The committee's program so closely parallels the program of the Klan that there's no distinguishable difference between them." As for the John Birch Society, Gordon Scherer, HUAC's ranking Republican member, is a sponsor. Not only is the committee instinctive in its dislike of the foreign-born and colored minorities, it is even on record as opposing "racial and social equality."

The final irony, of course, is that as the Communist menace outside the United States increases, inside it decreases (today there are some 20,000 American Communists, a fraction of what there was in the '40s). Yet the hate groups grow more hysterical every day in their search for Communists. Actually, their real targets are liberals, minority groups, intellectuals, "do-gooders" (they themselves are proud "do-badders"). Their method is now so odd that if someone they dislike actively fights Communists (e. g. Dean Acheson) they will say: but what's his plot; he only Seems to fight Communists. He's really a spy. This way paranoia—and Candy Man Bob Welch, the Big Bircher — lie. Hopefully, we now have Mr. Donner's book and I'm certain anyone who reads it will agree with Harry Truman that "the most un-American thing in America is the House un-American Activities Committee."

Competition From Japan

A prime manufacturing metal—copper—is running into short supply in the United States as a result of the methods employed by Japanese purchasers of scrap and copper ore in world markets. American smelters are finding it virtually impossible to compete with Japanese buyers even in the United States.

Behind the Japanese advantage lies a two-pronged protective device of the Tokyo government. Subsidies paid to smelters and manufacturing buyers of the basic metal enable them to buy copper ore at five cents a pound more than the market price for refined copper.

This terrific price advantage for Japanese concerns is aided by a 10 per cent tariff on imported refined copper. This effectively eliminates foreign competition in Japan's domestic market, while the subsidized price it can pay for the raw materials enables it to buy scrap and ore almost at will.

The U. S. State Department, acting as a result of complaints from American copper firms, has tried in vain to negotiate a settlement of the problem with Japanese trade officials. One immediate result of the Japanese policy is to drive up prices. Scrap and ingot prices have risen 15 per cent since the beginning of 1961. Japan buys 80 per cent of its scrap in the U. S., draining the supply available for American users.

The International General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade calls for discussion of any trade barriers deemed unnecessarily severe by any member country.

The United States has in many instances damaged its own industries to live up to the spirit of GATT agreements. But when a commodity as basic and essential to the economy as copper becomes the object of international trade abuse, no country can afford to cripple its own industry while waiting for reciprocity in trade relations which is not forthcoming.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Now They May Pray

There has been quite an excitement over the question as to whether children in public school may be required or even permitted to pray. The Board of Regents of the State of New York had worked out a non-sectarian prayer. A group of parents objected to prayers of any kind and brought suit. Their grounds were that by having a prayer the State of New York was sponsoring religion. It made it an offense to advocate religion in a school building but not to advocate party politics.

Mind, the state was not accused of sponsoring a particular religion but any kind of religion. What the parents had in mind was the highly advertised slogan about the separation of church and state. It is presumed that the Constitution of the United States discusses this profound subject. Yet one may search word by word, letter by letter, and he will find not one word in the Constitution about separation of church and state or anything forbidding prayers in school, or the singing of Christmas or Chanuka hymns, or for that matter the reading of a Hindu sutra.

As Associate Judge Charles W. Froessel, who is a top man among Masons, said about calling daily prayers unconstitutional that it is stretching "the so-called separation of church and state doctrine beyond reason."

But then there are many who call themselves rationalists who often go beyond reason in matters of religion. They fear beyond words that a child may grow up to know God, or Moses or Jesus, or Micah, but they have no fear of Karl Marx or Frederick Engels or even Stalin. Some persons, these days, are so secular that they worry lest their children discover that Man has had a long history and that history did not start in 1933.

Associate Judge Marvin R. Dye called the prayer "a form of state-sponsored religious education." How the learned Judge reached this conclusion, it is difficult to understand, particularly as he makes the point that the use of the prayer overstepped "a clearly defined line of demarcation between church and state."

If the line is so clearly demarcated, how come that cases are constantly being brought in the courts on the issue? How is it that there is such a difference of opinion on the subject, so that when a decision is handed down, there is such a division of opinion among the judges? In a word, Judge Dye's "defined line of demarcation" is not yet a defined line. It is a very shaky line, about which too many of us are quarreling. It is an issue which will never be solved because too many emotions are aroused by the very mention of the subject.

In the United States, religious groupings are as intense as nationalistic groupings are in Europe. Furthermore, the competitive nature of American society expresses itself in religious movements as in all else. Advertising and public relations methods are used to keep adherents in active membership and there is a constant effort to increase membership by propaganda. All religions and sects engage in this activity, even advertising in newspapers and bringing their quarrels out into the open.

During the Roosevelt regime, the trend in all things became liberal and many liberals moved over into Communism. This was true among the clergy as it was of professors and students in universities, and every once in a while, it was shocking to discover a clergyman supporting and defending a doctrine which is atheistic in its essence, and a party which has made atheism part of its creed. This dichotomy was often explained but it was never understandable.

However, since those days, this trend has lessened, as has the trend to bring sects together into cooperative efforts. Today, each religious group makes its strongest appeal to its own kind to keep it distinct, separate, and segregated. The assimilationist is not as popular as he was when Hitler stirred men's consciences. Today, each group prefers to stand alone and brooks no interference.

The atheist has also been active, fighting for his cause. He is always the spearhead in a battle against such evidences of religion as prayers in schools. He opposes prayers per se as opiates. We shall have to make up our minds: whether our moral sanctions are to be determined by religious creeds or by atheism and rationalism. The atheists may be forcing the issue.

Trying To Bushwhack The Sheriff

President Will Ask Americans To Prepare Fallout Shelters

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has decided that the most effective step the American people can take to show that they mean to stand firm over Berlin is an immediate air raid shelter program. As a result, the President will send a special message to Congress in the immediate future asking for all-out preparation against radio-active fall-out both by the goyernment, by cities and states, and by individual Americans.

The strategy behind this is to convince the Kremlin that the American people are willing to undergo atomic war—if necessary—rather than yield further in Europe.

It is no secret to the Kremlin that the American army has only 14 divisions against the Red army's 174; that the Red air force is now just as big as ours and that Russia has considerably more long-range missiles than the United States. Therefore the sending of a couple of extra U. S. divisions to West Germany would not impress the Kremlin.

What will impress the Kremlin is American willingness to undergo atomic war. Because it's in the stockpiling of hydrogen and atomic bombs that the United States has a definite lead over Russia.

Do-It-Yourself Shelters

The President's message will point out that it's quite possible to organize fallout shelters in a short space of time, and that this can be done by cities and individuals, as well as states and the federal government.

What is needed immediately is a survey of buildings with thick walls or interior accommodations to withstand radioactive fallout. The interior of the Merchandise Mart in Chicago, for instance, one of the largest office buildings in the world, could serve as a fallout shelter. Other office buildings could also serve.

They need to be surveyed, marked with signs and equipped with emergency food rations. Under the President's proposed program this is to be done in a hurry.

It's also possible for many families to transform their basements into fallout shelters. The average basement can reduce fallout damage to one-fortieth or one-fiftieth. But if the windows are shored up with sandbags, the fallout damage can be reduced by one two-hundredth.

This is something the average family can do in areas where the bomb does not actually hit. In areas where there is a direct hit, the problem is far greater and will require government initiative.

However, the President plans to lay the entire program before the American people in the very near future.

"Vice President" Sherman Adams

Friends of Sherman Adams report that at long last he is to get a job. He will become vice president of the Manufacturers Trust Company in New York.

Ever since he left the White House as Eisenhower's right hand man, Adams has been without employment. Eisenhower himself asked some of his business friends to take Adams into their organization—without success.

However, Gabriel Hauge, chairman of the Bank's Finance Committee, and former assistant to Eisenhower, has now intervened to get Adams placed as vice president of the Manufacturers Trust.

Note — One wisecrack going around Washington is that the dedication on the fly-leaf of Sherman Adams' new book reads: "To Bernard Goldfine without whom I would not have had the leisure time to write this book." Actually it's dedicated to his wife Rachel. But on the page just before the table of contents appears another inscription: "I wish to acknowledge the help of Joe McCarthy in the editing of the final manuscript for publication." This has confused and startled some people, insomuch as the late Senator Joe McCarthy once plagued Adams with many embarrassing problems, and if Adams had been able to establish contact with him, we should stop trying to send a man to the moon and concentrate on Sherman Adams' secret. However, Sherman's friend is another Joe McCarthy.

New York-To-Moscow

There's a very interesting inside reason why the Soviet Union has suddenly started bilateral treaty negotiations to give Pan American Airways and Aeroflot reciprocal landing privileges in Moscow and New York.

Original negotiations between Pan Am and Aerflot began three years ago, but got nowhere. Now the Soviet has a very good reason for resuming them: it wants a short route to Moscow's newest and nearest satellite, Cuba.

Last winter, en route home from South America, I traveled KLM because of the U. S. airplane strike and was interested in noting 30 Russian technicians on my plane en route to Cuba. They had flown the long way round from Moscow to Amsterdam then south of Cuba to the Dutch Island of Curacao, then north to Havana. This was because no Russian plane could land in New York on the shorter, easier route to Havana.

Now, if direct flights are OK'd for Pan American and Aeroflot, Russian passengers bound for Cuba will not have to take the long way round via the Dutch West Indies. They can merely stay on the big Aeroflot plane for and hour at Idlewild under immigration guard, then continue their flight south to Havana.

West Set For Military Showdown With Soviet

By David Lawrence

PARIS — The West is prepared for a military showdown with the Soviet Union. Such an assurance can be obtained from the supreme headquarters of the allied powers in Europe, which will have the chief responsibility for military operations.

The foregoing would not be written today were it not for the fact that Nikita Khrushchev's speeches and statements lately are accepted as a threat of war that cannot be ignored.

Several times the Soviet Premier has said publicly that he intends to use military force to compel the allies to get out of Berlin before the end of the year. He has also dashed any hopes that the United Nations might resolve the dispute over Berlin by declaring that he "would not recognize" any U.N. decision that is not in his favor, but would use military force in disregard of such a decision.

Thus, as in 1939, has one man again told the world that war is threatened.

Under the circumstances, the Western allies can consider that they have been given notice of an intention to start a war against them.

What are the Western powers doing about it? They are studying their plans anew. and it is no secret that they do not consider the defense of Berlin by itself as desirable and that they do consider that any military operation in the vicinity of Berlin will inevitable require action in other areas bordering on the Soviet Union.

It is important to clear the air about the use of "conventional forces." The operations that might develop include the possible use of tactical weapons with nuclear warheads. Perhaps the most authoritative statement about this is that made recently by General Lauris Norstad, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, when he said in a speech to the NATO parliamentarians conference:

"I would like to summarize what I have said in the form of a statement of some facts, some assumptions, some objectives, of the type, and presented in the manner in which I might give to the planners of my staff. In fact, I should admit that, in one way or another, I have given these points to the planners.

"1.—The threat continues. As we enter the seventh decade of this century, it is still — that is, the threat is still—by its nature, political, economic and military. It is found throughout the world. Unless other real guarantees are obtained, the security of Europe demands military strength.

"2.—The particular purposes for which the shield forces are being created, and the general purposes which govern their deployment and use, are not only valid, but are of even greater importance in the period of nuclear plenty and missile delivery into which we are now moving.

"3.—The forces presently planned for depolyment in Europe would be generally adequate in quantity, but their weapons and their survival posture must be improved, and this is on an urgent basis.

"4.—The forces of Allied Command Europe must be organized, equipped, trained and deployed so as to be able to react promptly and effectively with:

"First, conventional weapons, when such weapons are adequate to the military situation.

"Second, atomic weapons, when the use of such weapons is necessary.

"5.—Except in certain well-defined cases of direct self-defense, atomic weapons should be introduced into battle only after a particular decision to do so has resulted from the operatoin of an established decision-making process. This process will insure that such a decision would, in all cases, be taken by an authority at a level higher than that of the basic combat unit and that the level of combat would have been raised above that which could be dealt with by conventional weapons."

This is the military policy of the West which is in effect today. Any outbreak of hostilities in and around Berlin will be considered to involve broad defense operations in other parts of Europe as well.

The Soviets have more divisions of troops today in East Germany than the allies have in West Germany. But numerical superiority in ground troops is not the sole factor of measurement. The West has several atomic bases and several bomber fields ready for the launching of instant retaliation the moment the Soviets open fire anywhere in Europe. Thus the prospect that a ground war can be fought in a "limited" area has been brushed aside here in military circles as absolutely out of the question. Instead, there is a firm decision to treat any Soveit military action from a purely military point of view — to regard it as a signal for immediate counterattack by all military means available.

Any thought that a military demonstration of a division or two near Berlin will be undertaken as a part of the political fencing that's going on can be dismissed as impractical. Nikita Khrushchev must know that, once the firing starts in a nuclear age, he will have started a blaze that cannot be localized. This, at any rate, is the thinking of the men who have the responsibility for the defense of Western Europe. The Soviets should be pondering these things carefully, too, in Moscow.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

JOHNSON'S JOB — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is the person designated by the Constitution to preside over the Senate when it is in session. Obviously, the globe-trotting Johnson cannot be in the Senate and in Viet Nam at the same time. He solves this by appointing another senator of either party to sit in his place for short periods of time.

Because senators are busy men, those with the least seniority — the freshmen, in other words — draw the onerous task. It's usually a bore, with little to do except occasionally relay some ruling by the parliamentarian to a sparsely attended session.

One junior senator, however, has made a virtue of the chore. Sen. J. J. Hickey, D-Wyo., has compiled a record of his periods of presiding over the Senate, and has proudly announced that he holds the record for this session. So far, he has presided a total of 62 hours and 10 minutes.

His nearest competitor, Hickey says, is Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., another freshman, who has exercised this honor a mere 49 hours and 40 minutes. We can't help but think of Tom Sawyer and the fence whitewashing episode. If Senator Hickey boasts enough, he might create such a great demand for the honor, that he'll never have to preside over the Senate again.

The 'Do-Badders'

By Gore Vidal

John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away, his column will be conducted by guest writers.

When I was running for Congress last year (Now there's a phrase to empty a room!) I was asked the same planted question at nearly every meeting: Are you in favor of the House Un-American Activities Committee? My answer was usually more cautious than candid. For purposes of legislation, Congress has a constitutional right to investigate anything it wants to, and I am all for Congress's traditional privilege.

But then I would suggest tactfully to my audience that HUAC had produced less legislation at a greater cost than any committee in Congressional history, and as for its chairmen—well, who could admire Martin Dies? Or that super-patriot J. Parnell Thomas, who went from Congress to the clink? Or the present chairman Francis Walter, whose only legislative distinction is the notorious Walter-McCarran Immigration Act, a sly bit of work Cardinal Cushing felt could not "be defended without recourse to the discredited and un-Christian tenet of racism." I left the subject there, realizing that the lunatic Right has worked out a fine (and to many people perfectly reasonable) syllogism. HUAC is against un-American activities. Mr. Blank is against HUAC. Therefore, Mr. Blank favors un-American activities.

Fortunately, a brilliant case against HUAC has now been made by Frank J. Donner, a constitutional lawyer, in a book called "The Unamericans," to be published by Ballantine as a paperback this month. Using transcripts and documents, Donner records the whole sordid history of HUAC from its beginning in 1938. Originally, HUAC was a short-term investigating committee which evolved gradually into a standing committee though, contrary to precedent, its function is not legislative, but simply "exposing" Communists. John Rankin, of Mississippi, was godfather to HUAC in the House at the time of its metamorphosis in 1945. When Walter Winchell, among others, attacked the committee, Rankin dismissed the columnist with characteristic charm as that "Communistic little kike."

Neither in the past nor in the present has HUAC ever found "un-American" any fascist or racist organization. In fact, in 1942, the Ku Klux Klan's Imperial Wizard James Colescott said, "The committee's program so closely parallels the program of the Klan that there's no distinguishable difference between them." As for the John Birch Society, Gordon Scherer, HUAC's ranking Republican member, is a sponsor. Not only is the committee instinctive in its dislike of the foreign-born and colored minorities, it is even on record as opposing "racial and social equality."

The final irony, of course, is that as the Communist menace outside the United States increases, inside it decreases (today there are some 20,000 American Communists, a fraction of what there was in the '40s). Yet the hate groups grow more hysterical every day in their search for Communists. Actually, their real targets are liberals, minority groups, intellectuals, "do-gooders" (they themselves are proud "do-badders"). Their method is now so odd that if someone they dislike actively fights Communists (e. g. Dean Acheson) they will say: but what's his plot; he only Seems to fight Communists. He's really a spy. This way paranoia—and Candy Man Bob Welch, the Big Bircher — lie. Hopefully, we now have Mr. Donner's book and I'm certain anyone who reads it will agree with Harry Truman that "the most un-American thing in America is the House un-American Activities Committee."

Recovery Slow For Viral Hepatitis Victims

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The epidemic of viral hepatitis is slackening in that fewer cases are being reported to health departments. We hope victims of this tricky disease allow themselves sufficient time to get well. A small percentage will continue to be ill for months or years (chronic hepatitis).

When the disorder hangs on, the yellow color of the skin usually disappears but weakness, indigestion, loss of appetite, and abdominal distress often persist. Many feel depressed, nervous, or anxious. Some find it difficult to concentrate, or develop insomnia. Laboratory tests show a smoldering infection in the liver.

Chronic hepatitis may have serious implications. Some sufferers become carriers as the causative virus remains in the blood for months. Those who have had hepatitis should not donate blood for a transfusion for at least a year after all signs and symptoms of the liver infection subside. This is done to avoid serum hepatitis, a form of the disease acquired via blood transfusions or contaminated serum.

There is a relationship between viral hepatitis and cirrhosis of the liver. Cirrhosis of the liver, similar to that resulting from drinking, occurs in a small percentage of people who have had hepatitis. Primary cancer of the liver is not common but 30 per cent of those who develop this condition had cirrhosis previously.

The hepatitis victim has two strikes against him when it comes to alcohol and nutrition. He should baby the organ, not overtax it.

SCHMOS GET IT, TOO

R. E. writes: Is high blood pressure the penalty for brilliance, precocity, and brains in a young person?

REPLY

Heredity is a more likely origin of hypertension. This type of personality usually carries the weight of the world on his shoulders and cannot relax or delegate responsibility. On the other hand, high blood pressure occurs also in the nonintellectual.

FACIAL PAIN

M. V. writes: My husband has pain on one side of the face. The company doctor says it is tic douloureux and our physician called it trigeminal neuralgia. Are they the same?

REPLY

Yes. This painful condition also is known as facial neuralgia. Distress is shooting in character and is precipitated by pressure on so-called trigger areas.

HIVES FROM MEDICINE

Mrs. M. C. writes: Is there such a thing as allergy to drugs? My 20-year-old daughter developed a severe attack of hives after taking the first reducing pill. She stopped the pills and then started taking them again and again developed hives.

REPLY

Yes. This girl must be overly sensitive to the drug to develop hives after one tablet. Hereafter, when taking medicines, she ought to be extremely careful to avoid a more serious reaction.

BATHING AND HYPOTHYROIDISM

E. J. writes: Is it O. K. for a woman with myxedema to take a Turkish bath?

REPLY

Yes, but if this woman knows she has myxedema, why doesn't she do something about it instead of worrying about a Turkish bath? This condition stems from a sluggish thyroid gland and is easily corrected with thyroid extract or triiodothyronine.

CONTENTED HUSBAND

J. C. writes: A man of 32 has gained 20 pounds although he has been married only seven months. He had an examination recently, which showed low blood pressure. Could his added weight be responsible?

REPLY

No—his wife's good cooking and disposition.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Have you caught up with the story of the Las Vegas transient who awoke with bad pains in his stomach one night and put in a hurry call for the house physician? That gentleman gave him a quick examination, folded up his stethoscope, and said, "I'll give you four to one you have acute appendicitis."

Healthways Magazine defines a specialist as a doctor who has trained his patients to get sick only on a weekday between ten and four; a general practitioner, on the other hand, is likely to be called off the golf course at any time.

A Denver elocution teacher told Stan Peckham to practice speaking with pebbles in his mouth. "I was doing fine," recalls Peckham, "until one day I got the hiccups. I broke two mirrors and the picture window."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Steve Parker flies in today from Japan. He telephoned me from Tokyo to say that he's bringing with him movies of Shirley Maclaine and Paul Newman which were filmed when they appeared in Manila on the anniversary of the Philippine Independence.

Said Steve: "I am going to show these movies at the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas on Sept. 6. We are calling it 'Holiday in the Philippines'."

Steve also has obtained the rights from the Puccini Estate to use three arias from "Madame Butterfly" for his movie "My Geisha." The price paid for this privilege ran higher than the combined salaries of all the stars. I could hear Steve as plain as if he were in the next room.

Two years ago when a man in a nightclub told Bob Mitchum's brother John that he looked like Herman Goering, John, who was heavyweight champion at Camp Crowder in 1944-45, flattened the customer. Today when John went to Allied Artists to test for a role in "The George Raft Story," E. Charles Straus, who is producing "Hitler" on the same lot, said when he met John: "You're a spittin' image of Herman Goering! How would you like to test for his role in my movie?"

Well, Mitchum didn't flatten Straus. He tested for the part and was signed immediately. "Hitler" starts July 26 with Richard Basehart in the title role and Cordula Trantow plays the dictator's niece.

I was surprised to hear that Tony Quinn had some bitter things to say in Rome about his association with Sir Laurence Olivier in "Becket." When I was in New York Tony had nothing but praise for Olivier's talent and for all he had taught him.

Says the Rome article quoting Quinn: "I would never have left 'Becket' to make 'Barabbas' had I known Olivier was going to take over my role of the king and play it in an entirely different way. It was a chastening experience," said Tony. "I went into the play eager to learn from Larry. I wanted us to be a team, but he wasn't interested. I felt like a school boy with a crush on his teacher. I loved and was not loved. I finally was terribly hurt."

The pilot film "The insider" starring David Janssen and Polly Bergen, is so good that Screen Gems wants to release it as a motion picture before it's shown on TV. This sets a precedent and has never been done before, so Screen Gems will wait until William Dozier and Ann Rutherford return from Europe, which is any day now, to get Dozier's opinion.

David told me that he had heard something about it and he would have no objections, but that no one had directly approached him. Freddie Fields said that no one said anything to Polly, but Screen Gems would certainly turn up with a different kind of deal if it was shown first as a movie.

They think on the MGM lot they have another Marilyn Monroe in Joan Staley, who was well known as a concert violinist before becoming an actress.

Sol Siegel saw her in the same role in the TV series of "Asphalt Jungle" that Marilyn played in the movie so he signed Joan to a movie contract.

The beautiful young blonde's first film at the MGM studio is "Over the Rainbow", a comedy about a young airline hostess assigned to an international flight. Anatole De Grunwald is named as producer.

Talented Paul Anka, who has what it takes in putting over songs, skits and himself, is signing a two picture contract with Pierre Grimbalt, the new wave director-producer-writer who directed Eddie Constantine in "Me Faire Ca Moi."

Grimbalt, who is meeting Paul in New York, will star the young actor in "Today is Never" and it will be made in Philadelphia. Maybe if Grimbalt took Paul to Paris, he'd become another Constantine.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Sad that Bess (Mrs. Joe) Olsan, who was so happily married to M. L. Friendman, lived such a short time after her marriage. She died in New York following brain surgery and was buried in Louisville, Ky, Sunday.

Singer Joanie Sommers is sicker than anyone realizes. She is in St. John's Hospital with bleeding ulcers, so serious she has had to cancel two nightclub appearances in August.

There may be a legal battle over the title of Frank Sinatra's "Soldiers 3." MGM obtained the rights from the Killing Estate and so informed Frank's company, Essex Productions, but apparently Frankie's going right ahead.

Director Nick Ray and the former Betty Utey are expecting their second baby in Rome, where the Rays have a villa next door to Gina Lollobrigida's estate.

At the last minute before Kathy and Bing Crosby took off for Europe, Bing flew to Las Vegas to catch the new act of his three boys, Phillip, Dennis and Lindsay at the Desert Inn. He came home singing the praises of his three younger sons and says he's proud of them.

There were many song writers at the wedding of Ellen Wolfie Gilbert and Richard Fainau, daughter of the Wolfe Gilberts, on Sunday—and each composer had his songs sung at the wedding reception. Ellen was a beautiful bride and Rose, her mother, looked almost as young as her daughter. The colors the bridesmaids wore were in the purple shades and it was very effective

A new combination was Anna Kashfi and Leo Durocher at the Slate Brothers to hear Sonny King on his last night.

Footage on Jennifer Jones in "Tender is the Night" was put together by director Henry King, and the consensus of opinion is that Jennifer looks beautiful with her short haircut and Paris wardrobe.

Susan Kohner carried her camera with her into East Berlin and was taking pictures all over the place, and when she turned around she saw the East Berliners taking pictures of her!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Steve Parker flies in today from Japan. He telephoned me from Tokyo to say that he's bringing with him movies of Shirley Maclaine and Paul Newman which were filmed when they appeared in Manila on the anniversary of the Philippine Independence.

Said Steve: "I am going to show these movies at the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas on Sept. 6. We are calling it 'Holiday in the Philippines'."

Steve also has obtained the rights from the Puccini Estate to use three arias from "Madame Butterfly" for his movie "My Geisha." The price paid for this privilege ran higher than the combined salaries of all the stars. I could hear Steve as plain as if he were in the next room.

Two years ago when a man in a nightclub told Bob Mitchum's brother John that he looked like Herman Goering, John, who was heavyweight champion at Camp Crowder in 1944-45, flattened the customer. Today when John went to Allied Artists to test for a role in "The George Raft Story," E. Charles Straus, who is producing "Hitler" on the same lot, said when he met John: "You're a spittin' image of Herman Goering! How would you like to test for his role in my movie?"

Well, Mitchum didn't flatten Straus. He tested for the part and was signed immediately. "Hitler" starts July 26 with Richard Basehart in the title role and Cordula Trantow plays the dictator's niece.

I was surprised to hear that Tony Quinn had some bitter things to say in Rome about his association with Sir Laurence Olivier in "Becket." When I was in New York Tony had nothing but praise for Olivier's talent and for all he had taught him.

Says the Rome article quoting Quinn: "I would never have left 'Becket' to make 'Barabbas' had I known Olivier was going to take over my role of the king and play it in an entirely different way. It was a chastening experience," said Tony. "I went into the play eager to learn from Larry. I wanted us to be a team, but he wasn't interested. I felt like a school boy with a crush on his teacher. I loved and was not loved. I finally was terribly hurt."

The pilot film "The insider" starring David Janssen and Polly Bergen, is so good that Screen Gems wants to release it as a motion picture before it's shown on TV. This sets a precedent and has never been done before, so Screen Gems will wait until William Dozier and Ann Rutherford return from Europe, which is any day now, to get Dozier's opinion.

David told me that he had heard something about it and he would have no objections, but that no one had directly approached him. Freddie Fields said that no one said anything to Polly, but Screen Gems would certainly turn up with a different kind of deal if it was shown first as a movie.

They think on the MGM lot they have another Marilyn Monroe in Joan Staley, who was well known as a concert violinist before becoming an actress.

Sol Siegel saw her in the same role in the TV series of "Asphalt Jungle" that Marilyn played in the movie so he signed Joan to a movie contract.

The beautiful young blonde's first film at the MGM studio is "Over the Rainbow", a comedy about a young airline hostess assigned to an international flight. Anatole De Grunwald is named as producer.

Talented Paul Anka, who has what it takes in putting over songs, skits and himself, is signing a two picture contract with Pierre Grimbalt, the new wave director-producer-writer who directed Eddie Constantine in "Me Faire Ca Moi."

Grimbalt, who is meeting Paul in New York, will star the young actor in "Today is Never" and it will be made in Philadelphia. Maybe if Grimbalt took Paul to Paris, he'd become another Constantine.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Sad that Bess (Mrs. Joe) Olsan, who was so happily married to M. L. Friendman, lived such a short time after her marriage. She died in New York following brain surgery and was buried in Louisville, Ky, Sunday.

Singer Joanie Sommers is sicker than anyone realizes. She is in St. John's Hospital with bleeding ulcers, so serious she has had to cancel two nightclub appearances in August.

There may be a legal battle over the title of Frank Sinatra's "Soldiers 3." MGM obtained the rights from the Killing Estate and so informed Frank's company, Essex Productions, but apparently Frankie's going right ahead.

Director Nick Ray and the former Betty Utey are expecting their second baby in Rome, where the Rays have a villa next door to Gina Lollobrigida's estate.

At the last minute before Kathy and Bing Crosby took off for Europe, Bing flew to Las Vegas to catch the new act of his three boys, Phillip, Dennis and Lindsay at the Desert Inn. He came home singing the praises of his three younger sons and says he's proud of them.

There were many song writers at the wedding of Ellen Wolfie Gilbert and Richard Fainau, daughter of the Wolfe Gilberts, on Sunday—and each composer had his songs sung at the wedding reception. Ellen was a beautiful bride and Rose, her mother, looked almost as young as her daughter. The colors the bridesmaids wore were in the purple shades and it was very effective

A new combination was Anna Kashfi and Leo Durocher at the Slate Brothers to hear Sonny King on his last night.

Footage on Jennifer Jones in "Tender is the Night" was put together by director Henry King, and the consensus of opinion is that Jennifer looks beautiful with her short haircut and Paris wardrobe.

Susan Kohner carried her camera with her into East Berlin and was taking pictures all over the place, and when she turned around she saw the East Berliners taking pictures of her!

Long To Serve On Committee

John J. Long, director of safety and plant protection at the Cumberland plant of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, has been named to serve on the committee in charge of arrangements for Gov. J. Millard Tawes' Annual Safety-Health Conference and Exhibit.

The conference will be held in Baltimore at the Emerson Hotel on September 21-22.

Gov. Tawes said the annual meeting is held to help promote the control of accident causes. The governor said the cost of accidents in Maryland each year is a staggering amount.

He added the accidents are costly not only to the individual and the family, but also to the employer, the community and the state.

The conference will attract individuals, employers, civic groups and various other organizations interested in promoting safety and health.

Scientists now believe the earth to be between 3½ and 4½ billion years old. The oceans are believed to be less than 600 million years old, however.

Flying Association Will Meet Tonight

Final plans for a "fly-in brunch" August 13 at the Cumberland Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford will be made this evening at 7:30 when members of the Cumberland Flying Association meet at the port.

The brunch will be held from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and pilots who live within a radius of 150 miles are being invited to attend.

This year invitations are also being forwarded to pilots in the Richmond and Norfolk, Va., area. Movies will be shown at tonight's meeting.

LaSalle Men To Meet

The Men of LaSalle will meet at 8 p.m. today at the Knights of Columbus Home on North Mechanic Street to make final plans for the annual corn and wiener roast.

FOP Meets Today

A regular monthly meeting of Fort Cumberland Lodge No. 90, Fraternal Order of Police, will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in the State Armory at Frostburg. Refreshments will be served.

'Y' Planning Trip To Zoo

Cumberland YMCA will sponsor a bus trip to Pittsburgh on Tuesday, August 1, for all "Y" boy and girl members, according to Ben Haines, program director.

Mr. Haines said the youths will visit Highland Park Zoo and the special "Children's Zoo" which is one of the zoo's feature attractions.

Following the trip through the zoo, children will be able to swim in the Highland Park pool. Reservations for the trip now are being accepted at the local "Y."

Mr. Haines said reservations are filled for the trip to Pittsburgh July 22 to see the Pirates play the Milwaukee Braves.

Another trip to see the Pirates play the Los Angeles Dodgers is being offered on July 30. However, children must be accompanied by adults on the trip. Reservations are open to "Y" adult groups, service club families and mature high school students.

W. Va. Counties Get Share Of Health Funds

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — The State Health Department began Tuesday mailing out checks to 43 West Virginia counties that have met first-quarter requirements for new state funds.

Health Director N. H. Dyer said $104,638 would be distributed from the $450,000 authorized by the 1961 legislature to increase the level of local health services.

In order to be eligible for the money, counties had to approve and follow the new State Civil Service Commission procedures; have at least one health officer, sanitarian and public health nurse and submit for approval by the state agency a plan for expenditures.

Those standards were not met by Berkeley, Boone, Fayette, Grant, Hancock, Mingo, Pendleton, Raleigh, Ritchie, Lincoln, Wirt and Tucker counties.

Dyer said Lincoln, Wirt and Tucker have no health departments but could contract with an adjacent county or the state to provide such services.

Under the program, each county receives a basic annual grant of $1,000 above its allotment for the 1960-61 fiscal year. In addition, each also will get about 5 cents per person based on the 1960 census.

PSC Alumni Studies Plan To Open Campus Office

KEYSER—A specal meeting for a representative group of the Potomac State College Alumni Association was held Monday evening at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club. Consideration was given for the establishment of an alumni office on the local campus. Such a move could ultimately lead to employment of an executive secretary on either a part-time or full time basis.

The meeting was called by Thomas J. Conlon, president, and Kenneth F. Haines, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Attending were key representatives of the administration, alumni from the immediate area, and spokesmen for various business, civic, and professional groups.

Importance of alumni participation in the future of all colleges in the state was outlined in a alk by Miss Elizabeth Hallanan of Charleston, executive director of the Unified Projects of the West Virginia Association of College and University Presidents, and former Judge of Juvenile Court in Kanawha County.

Miss Hallanan emphasized that one of the primary matters discussed at the association's recent meeting at Blackwater Falls State Park was the relationship of alumni to individual colleges or to higher education in general.

Local alumni officers, as well as college officials, pointed out that only can an association be effective when there is a designated person who can devote considerable time and effort to the many aspects of an active organization.

After presentation of the many assets to be derived from employment of an executive secretary, a motion by Atty. Ralph J. Bean, of Moorefield, and seconded by Mrs. Dawn Jeffries, of Keyser, was voted upon which permits the alumni president to name a five-man committee which will begin preliminary studies on the matter and report to another group meeting within 30 days.

President E. E. Church, who introduced Miss Hallanan, announced to the group that for the first time in his 25 years on the Potomac State campus, he now feels the college has facilities to house an alumni office. This would be located in the former library which is now being renovated for office space since the new library building will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall semester.

Among the dinner guests who expressed observations on the proposals were: Atty. Bean, President Church, Dean K. S. McKee, Coach Dana G. Lough, Mrs. Jeffries, Roy Davidson, Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, J. Paul Blundon, and Paul J. Davis. In all of the brief remarks it was pointed out that employment of such a person to handle alumni affairs for the college would prove beneficial not only to the college but to the city of Keyser and to the state of West Virginia as well.

PSC Alumni Studies Plan To Open Campus Office

KEYSER—A specal meeting for a representative group of the Potomac State College Alumni Association was held Monday evening at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club. Consideration was given for the establishment of an alumni office on the local campus. Such a move could ultimately lead to employment of an executive secretary on either a part-time or full time basis.

The meeting was called by Thomas J. Conlon, president, and Kenneth F. Haines, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Attending were key representatives of the administration, alumni from the immediate area, and spokesmen for various business, civic, and professional groups.

Importance of alumni participation in the future of all colleges in the state was outlined in a talk by Miss Elizabeth Hallanan of Charleston, executive director of the Unified Projects of the West Virginia Association of College and University Presidents, and former Judge of Juvenile Court in Kanawha County.

Miss Hallanan emphasized that one of the primary matters discussed at the association's recent meeting at Blackwater Falls State Park was the relationship of alumni to individual colleges or to higher education in general.

Local alumni officers, as well as college officials, pointed out that only can an association be effective when there is a designated person who can devote considerable time and effort to the many aspects of an active organization.

After presentation of the many assets to be derived from employment of an executive secretary, a motion by Atty. Ralph J. Bean, of Moorefield, and seconded by Mrs. Dawn Jeffries, of Keyser, was voted upon which permits the alumni president to name a five-man committee which will begin preliminary studies on the matter and report to another group meeting within 30 days.

President E. E. Church, who introduced Miss Hallanan, announced to the group that for the first time in his 25 years on the Potomac State campus, he now feels the college has facilities to house an alumni office. This would be located in the former library which is now being renovated for office space since the new library building will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall semester.

Among the dinner guests who expressed observations on the proposals were: Atty. Bean, President Church, Dean K. S. McKee, Coach Dana G. Lough, Mrs. Jeffries, Roy Davidson, Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, J. Paul Blundon, and Paul J. Davis. In all of the brief remarks it was pointed out that employment of such a person to handle alumni affairs for the college would prove beneficial not only to the college but to the city of Keyser and to the state of West Virginia as well.

W.Va. Has Legal Tools To Check Poultry Feed

Attorney Rules State Responsible For Inspections

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — The State Dept. of Agriculture has the tools to make sure that high-quality poultry is raised within West Virginia's borders.

This was the gist of an attorney general's opinion Monday which said the state agency is responsible for the quality of feed used in so-called "contract" broiler operations. Many of these exist in West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle, where about 25-million broilers are raised annually.

Commissioner John T. Johnson had requested the opinion because his department was not certain that West Virginia was responsible for inspecting feed supplied— but not sold— to the farmer.

The raising of chickens on a contract basis often means that a hatchery supplies the chicks, the feed is supplied by a large firm and the farmer provides the care. Each then share in the profits.

State law prescribes that all such feed "offered or exposed for sale or distributed" shall be analyzed for content. This is to be certain that it meets specifications.

A spokesman for the agriculture department said theagency also was "vitally interested" in the medicants which are added to feed as a disease preventative.

It was pointed out that regulations stipulate these medicants must be withdrawn at least four days prior to the slaughter of the birds.

The state last year instituted a program for the dairy industry after it was found that the residue of some antibiotics was found in milk of recently-treated cows.

In some instances, the human body can develop an immunity to certain of these drugs when they are taken constantly. This could make the consumer, unknowingly, a target for disease.

Milk from dairy stock treated with this type of drug cannot be sold for 72 hours after the treatment is discontinued. Tests also are run on milk handled in processing plants to determine if it contains any antibiotics.

Piedmont Council Airs Sewage Plans, Parking Violators, Garbage Chislers

PIEDMONT — The sewage plans of the town for the connection of its sewers to the waste treatment plant of the Upper Potomac River Commission located at Westernport, were discussed Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the mayor and council.

Plans will also call for one or two pumping stations, Mayor Donald Mellor said. One is to be located on Water Street and the other, if necessary, will be placed in the east end of the community. Robert Regester Engineering Company made the survey.

It was ordered that Mayor Mellor request Donald C. Hott and Charles Smith, attorneys of Keyser, employed to do the legal part of the planning, to meet with the council on August 1.

Charles Spiker, chief of police informed council the police department issued over 200 parking tickets which have not been honored. Most of the violators who have not paid the fee for parking violations are from Maryland, he said.

Council instructed him to write the violators and if they do not pay fine in 15 days, to obtain warrants.

Chief Spiker stated he has received complaints of persons placing their garbage with other persons to keep from paying the garbage fee.

One particular person was followed from Fairview Street to Orchard section of the town where he deposited his garbage. If this happens in the future the party is to be arrested.

The Mayor also stated that someone had gone into his yard and deposited garbage in his trash cans.

The chief also called attention to the bad condition of the police cruiser. He stated that recently $132 was spent on repairs and nearly every day or so the car has to be taken to a garage for repairs. It was decided to contact a number of auto dealers for quotations on a new cruiser.

C. H. Rizer was granted permission to build a one-story dwelling, 30x40 fet, in rear of 157 East Hampshire Street, facing Woodlawn Avenue.

Piedmont Council Airs Sewage Plans, Parking Violators, Garbage Chislers

PIEDMONT — The sewage plans of the town for the connection of its sewers to the waste treatment plant of the Upper Potomac River Commission located at Westernport, were discussed Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the mayor and council.

Plans will also call for one or two pumping stations, Mayor Donald Mellor said. One is to be located on Water Street and the other, if necessary, will be placed in the east end of the community. Robert Regester Engineering Company made the survey.

It was ordered that Mayor Mellor request Donald C. Hott and Charles Smith, attorneys of Keyser, employed to do the legal part of the planning, to meet with the council on August 1.

Charles Spiker, chief of police informed council the police department issued over 200 parking tickets which have not been honored. Most of the violators who have not paid the fee for parking violations are from Maryland, he said.

Council instructed him to write the violators and if they do not pay fine in 15 days, to obtain warrants.

Chief Spiker stated he has received complaints of persons placing their garbage with other persons to keep from paying the garbage fee.

One particular person was followed from Fairview Street to Orchard section of the town where he deposited his garbage. If this happens in the future the party is to be arrested.

The Mayor also stated that someone had gone into his yard and deposited garbage in his trash cans.

The chief also called attention to the bad condition of the police cruiser. He stated that recently $132 was spent on repairs and nearly every day or so the car has to be taken to a garage for repairs. It was decided to contact a number of auto dealers for quotations on a new cruiser.

C. H. Rizer was granted permission to build a one-story dwelling, 30x40 fet, in rear of 157 East Hampshire Street, facing Woodlawn Avenue.

Moorefield TV Antenna Repair Is Completed

Two Channels Put Back On System

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Channel 6 and Channel 9 are both back in operation for the Valley TV Cooperative and tests were completed Tuesday morning by Charles Kuykendall, manager of the non-profit co-op.

The T-transformer on Channel 9 was out and the filament transformer on Channel 6 was put back in operation. All new parts were delivered Tuesday.

Dick Oates, who operates the cable TV service in Petersburg, erected the new antenna on top of Branch Mountian for the local cooperative. Oates donated his services, workmen and testing equipment for the new antenna. Oates has served as consultant on several occasions in getting the local cooperative equipment in working order.

Kuykendall said he had been especially anxious to get the translators back in service before the astronaut shot.

Mantle Hits 36th Homer As New York Loses 8-4 And 12-2

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The seventh-place Washington Senators shocked the New York Yankees Wednesday night by sweeping a doubleheader with 8-4 and 12-2 victories.

It was the first doubleheader loss for the Yankees this year.

The only solace for the Bombers was Mickey Mantle's 36th homer of the year off winner Dick Donovan in the second game. The blast broke the tie between Mantle and teammate Roger Maris, gave Mickey the undisputed major league lead and put him 19 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record 1927 pace.

A turnaway crowd of 27,126, the largest to see a game in Washington this year, reveled in the shoddy Yankee defense, which committed three errors in the first game and three more in the second. The Senators scored seven runs in the second inning of the nightcap to chase rookie Al Downing, making his first start for the Yanks.

Harry Bright rapped his third homer for the Senators in the first game and Gene Green his 13th, both off loser Bud Daley, who was pitching with only two days' rest. Bennie Daniels went all the way for Washington on a six-hitter.

Cleveland Defeats Bosox In First, 4-1

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Tito Francona and Willie Kirkland hit homers and Barry Latman hurled an eight-hitter Wednesday night to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Both homers came in the third inning with nobody on base. The Indians scored twice in the second inning on singles by Bubba Phillips and Kirkland, a double by Chuck Essegian and an infield out on which Kirkland scored.

All the Tribe scoring was done off Gene Conley, who had all his trouble in the second and third innings. In the other four innings he worked, he retired the Indians in order.

The Red Sox scored in the seventh inning when Vic Wertz hit a pinch sacrifice fly with the bases full to score Frank Malzone. Latman went all the way in maintaining his perfect record which is now 9-0.

Dodgers Trim National Loop Lead, 8 To 3

Podres Hurls 11th Victory; Cincinnati Loses 4th In Row

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Southpaw Johnny Podres pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to an 8-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday narrowing the National League leaders margin to two and one-half games.

The chunky Dodger left hander scattered nine hits in notching his 11th victory against two losses.

The defeat, charged to Bob Purkey, was the fourth in a row for the Reds.

Norm Larker, with three for three, led the Dodgers' 11-hit attack. Two Red errors contributed to three Dodgers unearned runs.

Purkey's throwing error paved the way for two unearned runs during a four-run third inning for the Dodgers.

Larker and Charlie Neal opened the inning with singles. Purkey then fielded Johnny Podres' bunt, and with a chance for a force play at third, threw over Gene Freese' head, permitting Larker to score.

Maury Wills bounced out, Purkey to Gordy Coleman, but when the latter tried to pick Podres off second Neal scampered home from third. Willie Davis scored Podres with a single to center. After John Roseboro popped out, Wally Moon singled and Tommy Davis doubled to account for the fourth and final run of the inning.

Gentile, Foiles Homer For Birds

DETROIT (UPI) — The home run power of Jim Gentile and Hank Foiles Wednesday night sparked the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Despite the loss, the Tigers moved into a virtual share of the American League lead with the New York Yankees who dropped a twinbill to the Washington Senators.

Gentile's homer, his 24th of the season, off loser Jim Bunning in the third inning followed a double by Brooks Robinson and Jackie Brandt's single which tied the score at one all.

Gentile scored behind Brandt and the Orioles took a 3-1 lead. Gentile broke up Tuesday night's game with a home run in the 10th for an 8-7 Baltimore victory.

Bill Bruton's bases-empty home run in the fifth inning pulled the Tigers within one run of the Orioles, but Foiles added an insurance tally with his second homer of the season in the seventh.

Cleveland Defeats Bosox In First, 4-1

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Tito Francona and Willie Kirkland hit homers and Barry Latman hurled an eight-hitter Wednesday night to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Both homers came in the third inning with nobody on base. The Indians scored twice in the second inning on singles by Bubba Phillips and Kirkland, a double by Chuck Essegian and an infield out on which Kirkland scored.

All the Tribe scoring was done off Gene Conley, who had all his trouble in the second and third innings. In the other four innings he worked, he retired the Indians in order.

The Red Sox scored in the seventh inning when Vic Wertz hit a pinch sacrifice fly with the bases full to score Frank Malzone. Latman went all the way in maintaining his perfect record which is now 9-0.

Dodgers Trim National Loop Lead, 8 To 3

Podres Hurls 11th Victory; Cincinnati Loses 4th In Row

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Southpaw Johnny Podres pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to an 8-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday narrowing the National League leaders margin to two and one-half games.

The chunky Dodger left hander scattered nine hits in notching his 11th victory against two losses.

The defeat, charged to Bob Purkey, was the fourth in a row for the Reds.

Norm Larker, with three for three, led the Dodgers' 11-hit attack. Two Red errors contributed to three Dodgers unearned runs.

Purkey's throwing error paved the way for two unearned runs during a four-run third inning for the Dodgers.

Larker and Charlie Neal opened the inning with singles. Purkey then fielded Johnny Podres' bunt, and with a chance for a force play at third, threw over Gene Freese' head, permitting Larker to score.

Maury Wills bounced out, Purkey to Gordy Coleman, but when the latter tried to pick Podres off second Neal scampered home from third. Willie Davis scored Podres with a single to center. After John Roseboro popped out, Wally Moon singled and Tommy Davis doubled to account for the fourth and final run of the inning.

Gentile, Foiles Homer For Birds

DETROIT (UPI) — The home run power of Jim Gentile and Hank Foiles Wednesday night sparked the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Despite the loss, the Tigers moved into a virtual share of the American League lead with the New York Yankees who dropped a twinbill to the Washington Senators.

Gentile's homer, his 24th of the season, off loser Jim Bunning in the third inning followed a double by Brooks Robinson and Jackie Brandt's single which tied the score at one all.

Gentile scored behind Brandt and the Orioles took a 3-1 lead. Gentile broke up Tuesday night's game with a home run in the 10th for an 8-7 Baltimore victory.

Bill Bruton's bases-empty home run in the fifth inning pulled the Tigers within one run of the Orioles, but Foiles added an insurance tally with his second homer of the season in the seventh.

Wilma Rudolph Sets World Sprint Record

Runs 100 Meters In 11.2 At Germany

By ED CORRIGAN

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — Wondrous Wilma Rudolph stole the show away from the men again Wednesday night by speeding to a world record 11.2 seconds in the 100 meter dash as the American males defeated West Germany, 14-6 and 120-91 in points.

The Olympic triple gold medalist, competing in a special race on the dual meet program, clipped one-tenth off the world mark of 11.3 she shares with two others in beating teammate Willye White by two yards. Barbara Brown of New York was third.

Willowy Wilma of Tennessee State University is co-holder of the listed record with Mrs. Shirley De la Hunty of Australia and Vera Krepkina of Russia. She tied the 11.3 standard in the meet against Russia at Moscow last weekend.

Miss White, who excels in the broad jump helped push Wilma to the record. Willye was clocked in 11.5 and Miss Brown in 11.9.

There was no noticeable supporting wind and officials were confident that Miss Rudolph's record would gain recognition.

After the race it was discovered that Wilma had suffered a pull in the hamstring muscle of her right leg. It was believed however, she will be able to compete in the remaining games with Britain and Poland, the first in London July 21-22 and the second in Warsaw July 29-30.

The tall Tennessean's outstanding performance far overshadowed the American teams' sweep of 8 out of the 10 finals in the closing day of the two-day meet. The Yanks Tuesday won 6 of the 10 events for a slim 56-50 advantage.

Dapper Phillies Defeat Yankees To Pad Lead, 4-1

The Phillies hiked their Dapper Division lead by defeating the Yankees, 4-1, yesterday at Penn Avenue field in the Dapper Dan Little League.

The triumph was the 11th in 12 games for the Phillies who were held to three hits by lefty Ken Wright, but bunched two of them —both double — with two walks and a fielder's choice for three runs in the third inning.

The winners broke a scoreless deadlock in the third when Gary Perkins doubled to right and went to third on a passed ball. Gary Knowlton walked and stole second and Terry Deremer walked to load the bases. Steve Walters hit into a fielder's choice as one run scored and Billy Meister doubled home two more.

In the fifth the Phillies added their final run when Tommy McGeady walked and Terry Deremer was safe on an error. Steve Walters singled home the tally.

Kenny Wright collected two of the losers' hits, one a double. The Yankee's only run came when Snyder singled and Wright hit what appeared to be a home run to left in the fourth. Snyder scored on the blow but Wright was called out at second for failure to touch the base.

The second-place Cardinals (10-2) now trail the Phillies by a full game. The results

Nagle Cops French Open

Ties Course Record, Wins Title With 271

PARIS (UPI) —Kel Nagle of Australia, who finished in a tie for fourth place in last week's British Open, equalled the La Boulie course record with a seven-under-par 65 in the final round Wednesday to win the French Open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 271.

Nagle, who started the final days' play with a one-stroke lead over fellow countryman Peter Thomson, shot a 69 in the morning round and then wrapped up the title with his 65 for a four-stroke victory.

Thomson also tied the course record of 65 set by Bobby Locke of South Africa in 1953 on his final round, but a morning round 72 ruined whatever chances he had of catching Nagle, winner of the British Open a year ago. Thomson finished up at 275.

Jean Garaialde of France and Englishmen David Thomas and John Jacobs finished in a tie for third place at 282. Garaialde shot rounds of 66-73, while Thomas had rounds of 68-73 and Jacobs had 68-68 for the second best performance of the day.

Wilma Rudolph Sets World Sprint Record

By ED CORRIGAN

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — Wondrous Wilma Rudolph stole the show away from the men again Wednesday night by speeding to a world record 11.2 seconds in the 100 meter dash as the American males defeated West Germany, 14-6 and 120-91 in points.

The Olympic triple gold medalist, competing in a special race on the dual meet program, clipped one-tenth off the world mark of 11.3 she shares with two others in beating teammate Willye White by two yards. Barbara Brown of New York was third.

Willowy Wilma of Tennessee State University is co-holder of the listed record with Mrs. Shirley De la Hunty of Australia and Vera Krepkina of Russia. She tied the 11.3 standard in the meet against Russia at Moscow last weekend.

Miss White, who excels in the broad jump helped push Wilma to the record. Willye was clocked in 11.5 and Miss Brown in 11.9.

There was no noticeable supporting wind and officials were confident that Miss Rudolph's record would gain recognition.

After the race it was discovered that Wilma had suffered a pull in the hamstring muscle of her right leg. It was believed however, she will be able to compete in the remaining games with Britain and Poland, the first in London July 21-22 and the second in Warsaw July 29-30.

The tall Tennessean's outstanding performance far overshadowed the American teams' sweep of 8 out of the 10 finals in the closing day of the two-day meet. The Yanks Tuesday won 6 of the 10 events for a slim 56-50 advantage.

Dapper Phillies Defeat Yankees To Pad Lead, 4-1

The Phillies hiked their Dapper Division lead by defeating the Yankees, 4-1, yesterday at Penn Avenue field in the Dapper Dan Little League.

The triumph was the 11th in 12 games for the Phillies who were held to three hits by lefty Ken Wright, but bunched two of them —both double — with two walks and a fielder's choice for three runs in the third inning.

Terry Deremer picked up his fourth pitching verdict with a five hit effort, striking out 10 and walking only one. Wright whiffed seven and walked four in a losing cause.

The winners broke a scoreless deadlock in the third when Gary Perkins doubled to right and went to third on a passed ball. Gary Knowlton walked and stole second and Terry Deremer walked to load the bases. Steve Walters hit into a fielder's choice as one run scored and Billy Meister doubled home two more.

In the fifth the Phillies added their final run when Tommy McGeady walked and Terry Deremer was safe on an error. Steve Walters singled home the tally.

Kenny Wright collected two of the losers' hits, one a double. The Yankee's only run came when Snyder singled and Wright hit what appeared to be a home run to left in the fourth. Snyder scored on the blow but Wright was called out at second for failure to touch the base.

The second-place Cardinals (10-2) now trail the Phillies by a full game. The results

Olivieri Fails To Sign Contract For Title Bout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pat Olivieri, manager of Harold Johnson, the National Boxing Association light heavyweight champion, hestitated Wednesday to sign a contract for Johnson to meet Eddie Cotton, fifth-ranked contender in a 15-round title fight in Seattle on Aug. 29.

Olivieri had said he would sign in the New York officies of match maker Dewey Fragetta. Later he said he received a telegram from Sid Flaherty, manager of Eddie Machen, the No. 2 ranked heavyweight whom Johnson defeated in an unpopular decision July 1 in Atlantic City.

Olivieri said he had promised Flaherty he would give Machen a return match within 40 days.

Klondyke Downs Zihlman, 12-1

Klondyke's Colts strengthened their hold on second place in the Twilight Baseball League yesterday by defeating Zihlman, 12-1, at Midland behind the four-hit pitching of Jerry Ritchie.

Ritchie chalked up his seventh consecutive pitching win for the Colts as he was supported by an 11-hit attack which included home runs by Allen Eisel and Tom Dunn and a double and single by Charley Winters. Butch Smith obtained two of the losers' four bingles.

Klondyke's victory was the 17th in 22 games for the Colts who trail Barton (19-4) by 1½ games. The results:

Nagle Cops French Open

Ties Course Record, Wins Title With 271

PARIS (UPI) --Kel Nagle of Australia, who finished in a tie for fourth place in last week's British Open, equalled the La Boulie course record with a seven-under-par 65 in the final round Wednesday to win the French Open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 271.

Nagle, who started the final days' play with a one-stroke lead over fellow countryman Peter Thomson, shot a 69 in the morning round and then wrapped up the title with his 65 for a four-stroke victory.

Thomson also tied the course record of 65 set by Bobby Locke of South Africa in 1953 on his final round, but a morning round 72 ruined whatever chances he had of catching Nagle, winner of the British Open a year ago. Thomson finished up at 275.

Jean Garaialde of France and Englishmen David Thomas and John Jacobs finished in a tie for third place at 282. Garaialde shot rounds of 66-73, while Thomas had rounds of 68-73 and Jacobs had 68-68 for the second best performance of the day.

Play Scoreless Tie

Frostburg's Merchants and Barrelville battled to a scoreless tie yesterday in a Pen Mar Baseball League game called at the end of seven innings at Barrelville because of darkness.

Dave Richards had held Frostburg to two hits while Barrelville obtained five off Kasnick's slants. Barrelville will play Salisbury Saturday at 3:30 p. m. in a rescheduled game at Barrelville.

Colts Trade Lipscomb To Pittsburgh

Baltimore Gets Three Players

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Coach Weeb Ewbank opened training camp for his veteran Baltimore Colts Wednesday by immediately dealing off two of them, Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb and Madison (Buzz) Nutter, for three younger players from the Pittsburgh Steelers.

In obtaining Jimmy Orr, Joe Lewis and Dick Campbell, the Colt coach said he was "bringing down our overall age."

Ewbank thus tipped that after his Colts were toppled from the championship throne of the National Football League last season he had decided to break up the old gang.

He observed that Lipscomb, defensive tackle, and Nutter, offensive center, "had both contributed much" to the Colt championships in 1958 and 1959.

But both are 30 years old and Lipscomb has had eight years of professional wear and Nutter seven. Orr, an offensive end, and Campbell, center and linebacker, both are 26, and Lewis, defensive tackle, is 24. All have played three years in the NFL.

At Pittsburgh, Steeler Coach Buddy Parker viewed the swap as a beefing up of his team's defensive strength.

"Our big trouble last year was defense," Parker said. "Our four front linemen were pretty good at stopping ground attacks, but not too hot at rushing the passer on plays." Said Parker:

"That's why I made the trade for Lipscomb."

The departure of Lipscomb and Nutter brings to 10 the number of players from last year's squad of 38 Colts who are missing from Ewbank's plans for his eighth team.

There may be more to the Pittsburgh trade than meets the eye. Orr is the second offensive end the Colts secured in a swap. Dee Mackey came earlier from San Francisco.

Both of the stellar Colt ends, Raymond Berry and Jim Mutscheller, had knee troubles last year and Ewbank apparently is not taking it for granted they won't break down again.

Indianapolis Gets Bevan From Jersey

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Indians announced Wednesday they have acquired catcher-first baseman Hal Bevan from Jersey City on outright assignment within the Cincinnati Reds organization.

Bevan had a .252 batting average and 11 runs batted in in 39 games with Jersey City this year.

Colts Trade Lipscomb To Pittsburgh

Baltimore Gets Three Players

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Coach Weeb Ewbank opened training camp for his veteran Baltimore Colts Wednesday by immediately dealing off two of them, Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb and Madison (Buzz) Nutter, for three younger players from the Pittsburgh Steelers.

In obtaining Jimmy Orr, Joe Lewis and Dick Campbell, the Colt coach said he was "bringing down our overall age."

Ewbank thus tipped that after his Colts were toppled from the championship throne of the National Football League last season he had decided to break up the old gang.

He observed that Lipscomb, defensive tackle, and Nutter, offensive center, "had both contributed much" to the Colt championships in 1958 and 1959.

But both are 30 years old and Lipscomb has had eight years of professional wear and Nutter seven. Orr, an offensive end, and Campbell, center and linebacker, both are 26, and Lewis, defensive tackle, is 24. All have played three years in the NFL.

At Pittsburgh, Steeler Coach Buddy Parker viewed the swap as a beefing up of his team's defensive strength.

"Our big trouble last year was defense," Parker said. "Our four front linemen were pretty good at stopping ground attacks, but not too hot at rushing the passer on plays." Said Parker:

"That's why I made the trade for Lipscomb."

The departure of Lipscomb and Nutter brings to 10 the number of players from last year's squad of 38 Colts who are missing from Ewbank's plans for his eighth team.

There may be more to the Pittsburgh trade than meets the eye. Orr is the second offensive end the Colts secured in a swap. Dee Mackey came earlier from San Francisco.

Both of the stellar Colt ends, Raymond Berry and Jim Mutscheller, had knee troubles last year and Ewbank apparently is not taking it for granted they won't break down again.

Indianapolis Gets Bevan From Jersey

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Indians announced Wednesday they have acquired catcher-first baseman Hal Bevan from Jersey City on outright assignment within the Cincinnati Reds organization.

Bevan had a .252 batting average and 11 runs batted in in 39 games with Jersey City this year.

Shoe To Ride

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Jockey Bill Shoemaker has agreed to ride New Policy in the $75,000-added Sunset Handicap Monday that highlights the closing day of the Hollywood Park thoroughbred meet.

Senators Sign Garcia To Pitch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators announced Wednesday the signing of Mike Garcia, 37-year-old right handed pitcher and former star of the Cleveland Indians.

Garcia worked for the Indians for 11 seasons before joining the Chicago White Sox for limited action last year. His best years with Cleveland were 1951-54, when he won 79 and lost 41. His 22-11 performance in 1952 was his best.

Mile Tracks To Operate Baltimore, Bel Air Ovals

Agreement Needs Approval By SRC

BALTIMORE (AP)—If the State Racing Commission approves, Baltimore Raceway and Bel Air Race Course will be operated by the state's three mile tracks next year.

Irving Blum, an executive of the corporations which run the two tracks, said they have entered into an operational arrangement with Pimlico, Bowie and Laurel.

No financial arrangements were announced but Blum said the agreement "encompasses the operation of the racing dates only; the sale of the real estate at the two locations is not involved."

"We have always maintained that some consolidation of the many racing franchises in the state is the only solution to prevent the economic suicide that is now facing the industry in Maryland," Blum said.

The agreement becomes effective Jan. 1 and will continue until 1965 "unless legislation is secured in the interim to permit the transfer of these dates."

Blum expressed the opinion that the consolidation "could be the beginning of a broad scale solution to the whole Maryland racing industry."

He said Baltimore Trotting Races, Inc., operators of Baltimore Raceway, and the Harford County Fair Association, Inc., operator of Bel Air, were "bowing out of the Maryland racing picture rather reluctantly" but added they felt the move in "the best interests of Maryland racing in general."

The changeover would not affect the Bel Air meeting Aug. 12-26, this year. Baltimore Raceway already has concluded its meet.

Baltimore Raceway has 24 nights of harness racing and Bel Air 12 days of thoroughbred racing.

Blum said full particulars of the agreement would be disclosed to stockholders at a special meeting in the near future.

Dick Nolan, former University of Maryland gridman, is preparing for his eighth National Football League season. He's a defensive back with the New York Giants.

Garden To Host Six-Day Bike Race

NEW YORK (AP) — A six-day bike race will be held in Madison Square Garden this September for the first time since 1939. The dates are Sept. 22-28.

David J. Pauly, president of the promoting Sports International, said 30 outstanding riders from at least nine European countries and the United States and Canada will participate in the grind.

Divides Workouts

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Coach Al Sherman of the New York Giants divided his rookie squad into six units by positions Wednesday and then watched the 41-man squad go through two 1-hour workouts under a broiling sun.

Market Rallies In Final Hour For Good Advance

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market rallied sharply in the final hour Wednesday, wiping out early losses and posting a substantial gain.

Volume ran slightly ahead of Tuesday's pace until the final half hour when activity petered out. Trading totaled 2,940,000 shares, slightly under the 3,010,000 share turnover of the prior session.

A total of 1,250 issues were traded, seven less than the day before and 28 less than a week ago. Advances totaled 507 and declines 503. New highs numbered 10 and new lows 36.

The Standard & Poor's 500-stock index posted a gain of 0.29 indicating that slightly under $2 billion had been restored to aggregate market values.

Gains of a point or better in such pivotals as Allied Chemical, Alcoa, American Telephone, General Electric, General Foods, International Nickel and U.S. Steel helped lift the Dow-Jones industrial average 3.44 to 682.74.

The rail component continued to drag, losing 1.08 to close at 133.49 the lowest since Jan. 3. Western Maryland, Atlantic Coast Line, and Kansas City Southern all dropped a point or more. Utilities closed at 113.21, off 0.37.

Market Rallies In Final Hour For Good Advance

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market rallied sharply in the final hour Wednesday, wiping out early losses and posting a substantial gain.

Volume ran slightly ahead of Tuesday's pace until the final half hour when activity petered out. Trading totaled 2,940,000 shares, slightly under the 3,010,000 share turnover of the prior session.

A total of 1,250 issues were traded, seven less than the day before and 28 less than a week ago. Advances totaled 507 and declines 503. New highs numbered 10 and new lows 36.

The Standard & Poor's 500-stock index posted a gain of 0.29 indicating that slightly under $2 billion had been restored to aggregate market values.

Gains of a point or better in such pivotals as Allied Chemical, Alcoa, American Telephone, General Electric, General Foods, International Nickel and U.S. Steel helped lift the Dow-Jones industrial average 3.44 to 682.74.

The rail component continued to drag, losing 1.08 to close at 133.49 the lowest since Jan. 3. Western Maryland, Atlantic Coast Line, and Kansas City Southern all dropped a point or more. Utilities closed at 113.21, off 0.37.

Couple Ordered Held For Jury

Robert E. Himes, 40, and his wife, Mary Himes, 28, of Pittsburgh, are being held in the Bedford County Jail for action of the September term of grand jury.

The couple waived preliminary hearing Monday before Justice of the Peace R. L. Wood after being charged with last Thursday's armed robbery of the First National Bank of Saxton.

The Himes' two small children have been placed in foster homes by the Child Care Service of Pennsylvania.

The parents were arrested several hours following the armed robbery in Pittsburgh. More than $19,000 was stolen.

Calls For Fitness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy issued a personal "urgent call" to America's young people Wednesday to improve their physical fitness.

He also appealed to schools and parents to give high priority to athletic programs and other "vigorous physical activities" for youth.

The President said this country can be no stronger than its people and the "physical vigor" of its younger generation is therefore a matter of great national importance.

Like a camera, the eye "photographs" through a lens. The eye "lens" is able automatically to change curvature in a split-second to focus images on a tiny "film" (the retina) no larger than a postage stamp.

Man Is Given Year In Jail

Albert Wayne McKenzie, 23, Finzel, yesterday was given a term in the Maryland Reformatory for Males not to exceed one year.

McKenzie was tried before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris as a parole violator. The court set the time for the Reformatory sentence to start upon the expiration of a 90 day sentence he is serving in the county jail for a motor law violation.

McKenzie was sentenced in 1959 for breaking and entering and given a two-year suspended sentence and parole by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Garrett County.

LeMay In Denial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Curtis LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, categorically denied Wednesday a published report that he had said a nuclear war is "inevitable" and probably would begin and end in the last weeks of this year.

Members of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee said LeMay made the denial at a closed session of their group Wednesday morning.

LeMay reportedly told the subcommittee there was no truth in an incident described in a column (by Marquis Childs).

War On Smoking

CHICAGO (UPI)—Parents, educators and physicians were urged Wednesday to cooperate in educational programs designed to discourage children from smoking.

The request was one of several recommendations of the American Medical Association (AMA) and the National Education Associations' joint committee on health problems in education. The recommendations were contained in an article of the current AMA news.

Hurricane Probe Set

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami weather bureau said Wednesday "hurricane hunter" planes would investigate a low pressure area in the northeastern Gulf of Mexico that contains above - normal shower activity. Chief Forecaster Ray Craft said the area, which he described as "very puny," was about 150 miles west of Tampa and about the same distance south of Apalachicola.

The Dominican Republic, often buffeted by Caribbean political and tropical storms, occupies the eastern two-thirds of the mountainous green island of Hispaniola. Much of the soil is so fertile that sugar cane will grow from the same roots for years, and green fence posts sometimes turn themselves into trees.

Couple Ordered Held For Jury

Robert E. Himes, 40, and his wife, Mary Himes, 28, of Pittsburgh, are being held in the Bedford County Jail for action of the September term of grand jury.

The couple waived preliminary hearing Monday before Justice of the Peace R. L. Wood after being charged with last Thursday's armed robbery of the First National Bank of Saxton.

The Himes' two small children have been placed in foster homes by the Child Care Service of Pennsylvania.

The parents were arrested several hours following the armed robbery in Pittsburgh. More than $19,000 was stolen.

Calls For Fitness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy issued a personal "urgent call" to America's young people Wednesday to improve their physical fitness.

He also appealed to schools and parents to give high priority to athletic programs and other "vigorous physical activities" for youth.

The President said this country can be no stronger than its people and the "physical vigor" of its younger generation is therefore a matter of great national importance.

Like a camera, the eye "photographs" through a lens. The eye "lens" is able automatically to change curvature in a split-second to focus images on a tiny "film" (the retina) no larger than a postage stamp.

Man Is Given Year in Jail

Albert Wayne McKenzie, 23, Finzel, yesterday was given a term in the Maryland Reformatory for Males not to exceed one year.

McKenzie was tried before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris as a parole violator. The court set the time for the Reformatory sentence to start upon the expiration of a 90 day sentence he is serving in the county jail for a motor law violation.

McKenzie was sentenced in 1959 for breaking and entering and given a two-year suspended sentence and parole by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Garrett County.

LeMay In Denial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Curtis LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, categorically denied Wednesday a published report that he had said a nuclear war is "inevitable" and probably would begin and end in the last weeks of this year.

Members of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee said LeMay made the denial at a closed session of their group Wednesday morning.

LeMay reportedly told the subcommittee there was no truth in an incident described in a column (by Marquis Childs).

War On Smoking

CHICAGO (UPI)—Parents, educators and physicians were urged Wednesday to cooperate in educational programs designed to discourage children from smoking.

The request was one of several recommendations of the American Medical Association (AMA) and the National Education Associations' joint committee on health problems in education. The recommendations were contained in an article of the current AMA news.

Hurricane Probe Set

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami weather bureau said Wednesday "hurricane hunter" planes would investigate a low pressure area in the northeastern Gulf of Mexico that contains above - normal shower activity. Chief Forecaster Ray Craft said the area, which he described as "very puny," was about 150 miles west of Tampa and about the same distance south of Apalachicola.

The Dominican Republic, often buffeted by Caribbean political and tropical storms, occupies the eastern two-thirds of the mountainous green island of Hispaniola. Much of the soil is so fertile that sugar cane will grow from the same roots for years, and green fence posts sometimes turn themselves into trees.

Junior B. Miley Not Guilty In Ritter Death

Jury Deliberates For Seven Hours

A verdict of not guilty was returned last night by a petit jury in Hardy County Circuit Court in Moorefield, W. Va., which heard testimony in the trial of Junior Brown Miley, charged with conspiring to prevent giving aid to a mortally wounded person.

The trial, which began on Monday and entered yesterday about noon, involved the murder of Eldridge Ritter, 33, a Stephens City, Va., salesman who died July 14 of last year.

Two Recesses Taken

The petit jurors got the case shortly after noon yesterday and deliberated until about 4:30, when they were given a 10-minute recess by Judge H. Gus Muntzing.

After recessing again for dinner, they returned to the jury room for additional deliberation after the judge re-read his instructions in the case.

The jurors returned a verdict of not guilty at 8:35 p. m.

Other Trials To Come

Two other defendants in the case are still to be tried. The first of the trials is scheduled for Wednesday, July 26. They are Nolan Shreve and Paige Weese.

On July 1 Wilson C. Zirk was found not guilty of the charge. Last December when he was tried for murder, the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

On June 28 the fifth defendant, John Rexroad, was found guilty of conspiring to commit murder in the second degree, although his lawyers indicated they plan to appeal his case.

Textile Strike Figure Fined For Assault

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Harold Elzie Aaron, a former undercover agent for the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation, was convicted of assault and battery Wednesday and given a $100 fine.

Aaron had originally been charged with malicious wounding in an attack on an insurance agent here but the charge was reduced on a motion by the commonwealths' attorney.

The Henry County Circuit Court jury which deliberated the case was out for an hour and 45 minutes.

Aaron was charged with assaulting John Layton Pulliam, 35, of Danville, at a motel April 8.

The former undercover agent was instrumental in the jailing of eight Textile Workers Union of America leaders on charges of conspiring to dynamite the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills during a bitter strike several years ago.

He testified at his trial Wednesday that he was carrying a gun April 8 because his life had been threatened constantly since that time. He said his family, including his mother and father, received anonymous phone calls every three or four days.

A 17-year-old Martinsville girl in the motel room when the shooting occurred, Judy Miller, testified Wednesday she told a former employe she had been offered $5,000 by union officials to "help convict" Aaron.

The girl, however, did not elaborate.

Aaron testified the shooting occurred when he tried to get Pulliam to elave the motel room.

He said he thought if he could not coax Pulliam to leave, he could scare him or hit him with the gun. Aaron said Pulliam put his hand on Aaron's shoulder, grabbed his wrist, twisted the gun down and it went off.

Boy Hit By Car In Frostburg

A 10-year-old Frostburg boy was admitted to Miners Hospital last night for observation after he was struck by an auto on South Water Street in that community.

Joseph Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scott, 123 South Water Street, was reported in "satisfactory" condition last night, according to attaches, who said he sustained possible internal injuries.

The boy was walking along South Water Street about 7:10 p. m. when he was struck by a sedan being driven by Wilda Jane Coleman of RD 2, Frostburg.

No charges have been preferred against the driver, said Tfc. J. V. Stakem, who is investigating the accident.

Health Officer Impressed With County Institutions

Says Residents Should Be Proud Of Services

Dr. W. Ross Cameron, acting deputy state health officer of Allegany County, visited the County Infirmary, Sylvan Retreat and County Home yesterday and said he was "very much impressed" with the three institutions.

Dr. Cameron said Allegany County has a right to be proud of the way it is taking care of its aging citizens at all three places.

Dr. Cameron, who also is deputy health officer for Washington County, made the unexpected visits with John J. Rowan, president of the Board of Commissioners of Allegany County, and Mrs. Jennie J. Grahame, administrative assistant for the County Health Department.

The acting deputy health officer said the three institutions were spotlessly clean and well-kept, and all the patients were receiving excellent medical and nursing care.

He asserted that there is no other county in the United States that offers its residents the kind of treatment and services which is afforded patients at Sylvan Retreat, County Home and County Infirmary.

Dr. Cameron said other places interested in providing similar care would do well to use Allegany County as a model to make future plans for starting such operations.

Allegany County is far ahead of other counties in Maryland which are beginning to take steps to care for the aging, Dr. Cameron said.

Dr. Cameron said the county commissioners deserve a lot of credit for the three institutions, which he said obviously are run on a businesslike basis.

'Young Turks' Ask New Ticket For Democrats

Want Brewster For Governor

BALTIMORE (AP)—A "Young Turk" movement reportedly is under way in Maryland's Democratic party with the aim of persuading Rep. Daniel B. Brewster to run for governor.

A group of young Democrats—many of them influential and some of them officeholders—want Brewster to head a "New Era" ticket which reportedly would include:

For U. S. Senate—Del. Blair Lee III, D-Montgomery.

For attorney general—Sen. Harry R. Hughes, D-Caroline.

For comptroller — James J. Lacy Jr., a Baltimore businessman and son of a former state comptroller.

Talk of such a slate has been increasing lately.

Gov. Tawes is expected to seek renomination by the Democrats but has made no formal announcement. George P. Mahoney, who narrowly missed the Democratic gubernatorial nomination twice, may file for a third try, and David Hume, former state party treasurer, has announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination.

Promoters of the "New Era" ticket believe it will take a ticket of relatively new faces to insure another Democratic victory in the 1962 general election.

One backer of the idea, who declined to be named, said the proposed slate "would bowl over the Republicans like tenpins . . . but I'm not so sure Tawes or Mahoney wouldn't be in deep trouble if either of them had to face McKeldin."

Former Republican Theodore R. McKeldin is expected to try to win back the chief executive's spot he held for two terms.

Brewster had indicated he would try for the U. S. Senate next year, and Lee has announced he will seek the Senate seat.

But Brewster's friends said they believe the 37-year-old Baltimore County attorney can be persuaded to try for governor. He is rounding out his second term representing Maryland's 2nd Congressional District in the House.

The 45-year-old Lee, a state legislator since 1955, is the oldest of the proposed "New Era" ticket. His grandfather was in the U. S. Senate and his father was state comptroller.

Hughes and Lacy are in their mid-30's.

Brewery Workers To Attend Convention

Several members of Local 265, United Brewery Workers of Cumberland, will attend the union's Diamond Jubilee Anniversary Convention next month in Baltimore.

Representing Cumberland will be Ronald Palmer, 9 Roselawn Avenue, LaVale; Robert Blacker, 106 Altamont Terrace; and Jerome P. Creegan, 411 Furnace Street.

The convention will be held August 14 and is expected to attract several hundred delegates.

Moose Seek 1962 State Convention

Delegates Named To Salisbury Meet

Cumberland Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose and the Women of the Moose plan to invite the Maryland - Delaware - District of Columbia Moose Association to hold its 1962 convention in Cumberland.

Russell L. Minnicks, local lodge governor, said last night he will head a delegation to Salisbury for the annual convention August 25, 26 and 27, at which time the invitation for the 1962 session will be extended.

The local delegates include Mr. and Mrs. Minnicks, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gellner, Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brant, John Angeletta, Frank Trozzo and Frank J. Davis.

Mr. Minnicks also announced that plans are being made for the annual family basket picnic September 3 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club picnic grounds.

On Saturday night, a class of 10 candidates will be initiated at a special ceremony honoring all past governors of the local lodge. Following the meeting and initiation, which begins at 8 p. m., a dance and social hour will be held for members and their guests. Music will be furnished by the Diplomats orchestra.

28 Hospitals Fail To Pass Safety Check

W.Va. Indicates Four In This Area

West Virginia State Fire Marshal Besil E. Wright at Charleston yesterday recommended to the State Health Department that 1961-62 licenses be denied to 28 hospitals and 22 nursing homes in West Virginia. Four of those listed are in this area, United Press International reported last night.

Included are Davis Memorial Hospital, Elkins; Pocahontas Memorial at Marlinton; Tucker County General Hospital at Parsons; and City Hospital, Martinsburg.

Fire hazards listed by Wright include exposed and obstructed stairways, and fire escapes with inadequate protection from smoke and fire; inadequate storage of flammable equipment and supplies; inadequate or non-existent automatic sprinkling equipment; poor electrical wiring; no fire alarm systems; no evacuation plans and no emergency lighting equipment.

Another hazard common to most hospitals, he said, was the absence of conductive flooring in operating rooms. Wright explained that such flooring prevents static electricity that could produce a spark that might ignite volatile gases used during operations.

The fire marshal said none of the hospitals had all of these hazards, but all had some of them.

State Health Director N. H. Dyer, who actually issues the licenses, said he would follow the fire marshal's recommendations.

Both the fire marshal and the state health director have authority to close institutions unless they take steps to comply with safety regulations. No such action is anticipated in the near future, they said, unless the institutions cannot be persuaded to remedy the conditions and comply with recommendations in the report.

Wright said some of the largest hospitals in West Virginia are involved.

Savings Bond Sales Improve In County

Allegany County residents purchased $1,250,947 in U. S. Savings Bonds for the first six months of 1961, which is 50 per cent of the county's goal this year.

Royden A. Blunt, Maryland savings bond chairman, said the improved sale in Allegany County is a result of work by Lynn C. Lashley, county chairman.

Mr. Blunt also noted that for the first six months of this year 13 counties and Baltimore City have sales of 50 per cent of their goals or better.

In first place is Talbot with 69.4 per cent; Queen Anne, 68 per cent; Dorchester, 61.1 per cent; Howard, 58.2 per cent; Charles, 58.1 per cent; Prince Georges, 58 per cent; Frederick, 54.7 per cent; Carroll, 52.8 per cent; Montgomery, 52.43 per cent; Kent, 52.41 per cent; Harford, 51.2 per cent; Baltimore City, 50.9 per cent; St. Mary's, 50.4 per cent and Allegany, 50 per cent.

Chairman Blunt said the county chairmen throughout the state and hundreds of volunteer workers are still supporting the program as vigorously now as when it started 20 years ago.

Transport Study Discussed

Mayor J. Edwin Keech and Richard C. Cowdery, transportation planning consultant for the American Municipal League, discuss a proposed pilot study or urban transportation which the association was interested in making in Cumberland. But since the city expects to hire a planning and zoning consultant, Mayor Keech and Mr. Cowdery concluded that a pilot study would duplicate work which is to be done anyway. However, Mr. Cowdery said the Municipal Association's experts will be available for future consultation. (Story on page 14)

Youths Ordered Held For Jury In Burglary

Face Three Charges In Entry At McCoole

Two McCoole youths yesterday were ordered held for action of the October term of the grand jury in connection with the breaking and entering of a McCoole residence.

The youths, John Patrick Pearce, 21, and Gerald Eugene Butts, 19, were given a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court by Magistrate Paul W. Barnett, who ordered them held under $500 bond each.

They were committed to the County Jail in default of bond, but relatives of the two youths were expected to post bond late last night.

Tfc. Milton G. Hart, criminal investigator for the State Police, arrested the two McCoole youths in connection with the breaking and entering of the residence of John W. Dove on or about May 31.

Tfc. Hart charged the two with breaking and entering, petty larceny and destruction of property. A platform rocker and a record player valued at $30 were taken from the Dove residence and were recovered at the home of one of the youths.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason and Tfc. Hart presented the state's case at the preliminary hearing yesterday.

Camden Avenue Work Urgent, Long Advises

Cites Reappraisal By Departments

The spokesman for residents of Camden Avenue has been advised by John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property, that if the street is not sealed with a new wearing course before winter sets in, rapid deterioration of the base will occur.

In a letter to Milton Gerson, 828 Camden Avenue, Mr. Long said that a reappraisal of the condition of the street was made by both the Engineering Department and the Street Department after he appeared before the Mayor and Council July 10.

Mr. Gerson told Council residents are opposed to resurfacing the street at present and want the work held up until dwelling construction work in the area is completed, saying the heavy traffic resulting from the work will make it necessary to redo the street in a year or so.

Mr. Long advised that the city departments mutually agreed that rapid deterioration of the base will occur if the area is not sealed.

He said representatives of the Engineering Department will be glad to meet with interested residents to point out reasons for the conclusions.

He said that since the budget is not yet set, it is uncertain whether or not funds will be available to resurface the street.

He said that if funds are made available, the money "will be wisely spent" in protecting what is a substantial investment from the standpoint of the abutting property owners and the city.

Following the July 10 protest, Mr. Long announced that the Camden Avenue resurfacing ordinance would be held in abeyance for a year.

4-H'ers Urged To Begin Fair Exhibit Work

James B. Arnold, assistant farm agent of Allegany County, is reminding 4-H club members with dairy and beef calves that the time for the annual Cumberland Fair is drawing near and they should start preparing their animals for exhibit.

Some 35 4-H boys and girls in the county are listed as having dairy and beef calf projects and are eligible to exhibit at the Fair, which will be held August 14 to 19.

Mr. Arnold points out that prior fitting and training of the animals will make the task a lot easier on show day. He is encouraging the 4-H'ers to start spending a few minutes each day with the animals so they can become familiar to show halters, brushes, feeding and drinking from pails and other practices which they must become adjusted to at fair time.

Those who plan to exhibit are asked to read carefully the rules and regulations for 4-H Club exhibits as found in the 1961 Cumberland Fair premium book beginning on page 93.

He said the books are available upon request. He reminds the exhibitors to note particularly the rules that "all animals must be owned and registered in the name of the exhibitor."

In a letter to the exhibitors Mr. Arnold enclosed two copies of the Livestock Sanitary Service application form which must be completed for all animals to be shown, and this must be submitted to the Baltimore office at least 15 days before the first show.

Other information may be obtained by calling the Extension Office at the Court House here. The telephone number is PA 4-3320.

Junior B. Miley Not Guilty In Ritter Death

Jury Deliberates For Seven Hours

A verdict of not guilty was returned last night by a petit jury in Hardy County Circuit Court in Moorefield, W. Va., which heard testimony in the trial of Junior Brown Miley, charged with conspiring to prevent giving aid to a mortally wounded person.

The trial, which began on Monday and entered yesterday about noon, involved the murder of Eldridge Ritter, 33, a Stephens City, Va., salesman who died July 14 of last year.

Two Recesses Taken

The petit jurors got the case shortly after noon yesterday and deliberated until about 4:30, when they were given a 10-minute recess by Judge H. Gus Muntzing.

After recessing again for dinner, they returned to the jury room for additional deliberation after the judge re-read his instructions in the case.

The jurors returned a verdict of not guilty at 8:35 p. m.

Other Trials To Come

Two other defendants in the case are still to be tried. The first of the trials is scheduled for Wednesday, July 26. They are Nolan Shreve and Paige Weese.

On July 1 Wilson C. Zirk was found not guilty of the charge. Last December when he was tried for murder, the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

On June 28 the fifth defendant, John Rexroad, was found guilty of conspiring to commit murder in the second degree, although his lawyers indicated they plan to appeal his case.

Textile Strike Figure Fined For Assault

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Harold Elzie Aaron, a former undercover agent for the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation, was convicted of assault and battery Wednesday and given a $100 fine.

Aaron had originally been charged with malicious wounding in an attack on an insurance agent here but the charge was reduced on a motion by the commonwealths' attorney.

The Henry County Circuit Court jury which deliberated the case was out for an hour and 45 minutes.

Aaron was charged with assaulting John Layton Pulliam, 35, of Danville, at a motel April 8.

The former undercover agent was instrumental in the jailing of eight Textile Workers Union of America leaders on charges of conspiring to dynamite the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills during a bitter strike several years ago.

He testified at his trial Wednesday that he was carrying a gun April 8 because his life had been threatened constantly since that time. He said his family, including his mother and father, received anonymous phone calls every three or four days.

A 17-year-old Martinsville girl in the motel room when the shooting occurred, Judy Miller, testified Wednesday she told a former employe she had been offered $5,000 by union officials to "help convict" Aaron.

The girl, however, did not elaborate.

Aaron testified the shooting occurred when he tried to get Pulliam to elave the motel room.

He said he thought if he could not coax Pulliam to leave, he could scare him or hit him with the gun. Aaron said Pulliam put his hand on Aaron's shoulder, grabbed his wrist, twisted the gun down and it went off.

The boy was walking along South Water Street about 7:10 p. m. when he was struck by a sedan being driven by Wilda Jane Coleman of RD 2, Frostburg.

Health Officer Impressed With County Institutions

Says Residents Should Be Proud Of Services

Dr. W. Ross Cameron, acting deputy state health officer of Allegany County, visited the County Infirmary, Sylvan Retreat and County Home yesterday and said he was "very much impressed" with the three institutions.

Dr. Cameron said Allegany County has a right to be proud of the way it is taking care of its aging citizens at all three places.

Dr. Cameron, who also is deputy health officer for Washington County, made the unexpected visits with John J. Rowan, president of the Board of Commissioners of Allegany County, and Mrs. Jennie J. Grahame, administrative assistant for the County Health Department.

The acting deputy health officer said the three institutions were spotlessly clean and well-kept, and all the patients were receiving excellent medical and nursing care.

He asserted that there is no other county in the United States that offers its residents the kind of treatment and services which is afforded patients at Sylvan Retreat, County Home and County Infirmary.

Dr. Cameron said other places interested in providing similar care would do well to use Allegany County as a model to make future plans for starting such operations.

Allegany County is far ahead of other counties in Maryland which are beginning to take steps to care for the aging, Dr. Cameron said.

Dr. Cameron said the county commissioners deserve a lot of credit for the three institutions, which he said obviously are run on a businesslike basis.

'Young Turks' Ask New Ticket For Democrats

Want Brewster For Governor

BALTIMORE (AP)—A "Young Turk" movement reportedly is under way in Maryland's Democratic party with the aim of persuading Rep. Daniel B. Brewster to run for governor.

A group of young Democrats—many of them influential and some of them officeholders—want Brewster to head a "New Era" ticket which reportedly would include:

For U. S. Senate—Del. Blair Lee III, D-Montgomery.

For attorney general—Sen. Harry R. Hughes, D-Caroline.

For comptroller — James J. Lacy Jr., a Baltimore businessman and son of a former state comptroller.

Talk of such a slate has been increasing lately.

Gov. Tawes is expected to seek renomination by the Democrats but has made no formal announcement. George P. Mahoney, who narrowly missed the Democratic gubernatorial nomination twice, may file for a third try, and David Hume, former state party treasurer, has announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination.

Promoters of the "New Era" ticket believe it will take a ticket of relatively new faces to insure another Democratic victory in the 1962 general election.

One backer of the idea, who declined to be named, said the proposed slate "would bowl over the Republicans like tenpins . . . but I'm not so sure Tawes or Mahoney wouldn't be in deep trouble if either of them had to face McKeldin."

Former Republican Theodore R. McKeldin is expected to try to win back the chief executive's spot he held for two terms.

Brewster had indicated he would try for the U. S. Senate next year, and Lee has announced he will seek the Senate seat.

But Brewster's friends said they believe the 37-year-old Baltimore County attorney can be persuaded to try for governor. He is rounding out his second term representing Maryland's 2nd Congressional District in the House.

The 45-year-old Lee, a state legislator since 1955, is the oldest of the proposed "New Era" ticket. His grandfather was in the U. S. Senate and his father was state comptroller.

Hughes and Lacy are in their mid-30's.

28 Hospitals Fail To Pass Safety Check

W.Va. Indicates Four In This Area

West Virginia State Fire Marshal Besil E. Wright at Charleston yesterday recommended to the State Health Department that 1961-62 licenses be denied to 28 hospitals and 22 nursing homes in West Virginia. Four of those listed are in this area, United Press International reported last night.

Included are Davis Memorial Hospital, Elkins; Pocahontas Memorial at Marlinton; Tucker County General Hospital at Parsons; and City Hospital, Martinsburg.

Fire hazards listed by Wright include exposed and obstructed stairways, and fire escapes with inadequate protection from smoke and fire; inadequate storage of flammable equipment and supplies; inadequate or non-existent automatic sprinkling equipment; poor electrical wiring; no fire alarm systems; no evacuation plans and no emergency lighting equipment.

Another hazard common to most hospitals, he said, was the absence of conductive flooring in operating rooms. Wright explained that such flooring prevents static electricity that could produce a spark that might ignite volatile gases used during operations.

The fire marshal said none of the hospitals had all of these hazards, but all had some of them.

State Health Director N. H. Dyer, who actually issues the licenses, said he would follow the fire marshal's recommendations.

Both the fire marshal and the state health director have authority to close institutions unless they take steps to comply with safety regulations. No such action is anticipated in the near future, they said, unless the institutions cannot be persuaded to remedy the conditions and comply with recommendations in the report.

Wright said some of the largest hospitals in West Virginia are involved.

Savings Bond Sales Improve In County

Allegany County residents purchased $1,250,947 in U. S. Savings Bonds for the first six months of 1961, which is 50 per cent of the county's goal this year.

Royden A. Blunt, Maryland savings bond chairman, said the improved sale in Allegany County is a result of work by Lynn C. Lashley, county chairman.

Mr. Blunt also noted that for the first six months of this year 13 counties and Baltimore City have sales of 50 per cent of their goals or better.

In first place is Talbot with 69.4 per cent; Queen Anne, 68 per cent; Dorchester, 61.1 per cent; Howard, 58.2 per cent; Charles, 58.1 per cent; Prince Georges, 58 per cent; Frederick, 54.7 per cent; Carroll, 52.8 per cent; Montgomery, 52.43 per cent; Kent, 52.41 per cent; Harford, 51.2 per cent; Baltimore City, 50.9 per cent; St. Mary's, 50.4 per cent and Allegany, 50 per cent.

Chairman Blunt said the county chairmen throughout the state and hundreds of volunteer workers are still supporting the program as vigorously now as when it started 20 years ago.

Transport Study Discussed

Mayor J. Edwin Keech and Richard C. Cowdery, transportation planning consultant for the American Municipal League, discuss a proposed pilot study or urban transportation which the association was interested in making in Cumberland. But since the city expects to hire a planning and zoning consultant, Mayor Keech and Mr. Cowdery concluded that a pilot study would duplicate work which is to be done anyway. However, Mr. Cowdery said the Municipal Association's experts will be available for future consultation. (Story on page 14)

Youths Ordered Held For Jury In Burglary

Face Three Charges In Entry At McCoole

Two McCoole youths yesterday were ordered held for action of the October term of the grand jury in connection with the breaking and entering of a McCoole residence.

The youths, John Patrick Pearce, 21, and Gerald Eugene Butts, 19, were given a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court by Magistrate Paul W. Barnett, who ordered them held under $500 bond each.

They were committed to the County Jail in default of bond, but relatives of the two youths were expected to post bond late last night.

Tfc. Milton G. Hart, criminal investigator for the State Police, arrested the two McCoole youths in connection with the breaking and entering of the residence of John W. Dove on or about May 31.

Tfc. Hart charged the two with breaking and entering, petty larceny and destruction of property. A platform rocker and a record player valued at $30 were taken from the Dove residence and were recovered at the home of one of the youths.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason and Tfc. Hart presented the state's case at the preliminary hearing yesterday.
